5 PERSONS KILLED OUTRIGHT AND 28 OTHERS ARE INJURED IN RAIL WRECK NEAR MACON

Eight of Those Injured Are Reported to Be in a Serious Condition.

PASSENGER TRAINS HIT ON THE GEORGIA SOUTHERN

Collision Was Head-On and Occurred in a Dismal Swamp About 19 Miles Below Macon. Trains Were Running at High Speed and Both Were Badly Shattered.

Macon, Ga., February 14.—Five persons were instantly killed, eight seriously injured, and a score slightly injured when passenger trains No. 2 and No. 5 on the Georgia Southern and Florida railroad met, head-on, this afternoon at 5 o'clock, 19 miles below Macon between Wellston and Bonaire.

The Dead.

W. Y. YATES, of Macon, engineer on Train No. 5.

FLAGMAN A. R. JOHNSON, of Macon, Ga.

CONDUCTOR I. B. INGALLS, of Macon, traveling as passenger.

CONDUCTOR DUPREE, of Kathleen, Ga., traveling as passenger.

ONE UNKNOWN WHITE MAN.

Seriously Injured.

Leroy Fuss, engineer, train No. 2, badly cut on head and chin.

Robert Williams, colored, mail clerk, of Macon, hurt in back.

W. M. Elder of Worth, Ga., bruised in back.

W. L. Wheeler, of Wellston, bruised about trunk of body.

J. F. Blount, Orangeburg, S. C., traveling salesman, painfully hurt about the head.

George Bernhart, flagman, painfully hurt on head.

Loretta Putnam, colored, badly hurt on head and side.

Orders Were Misread.

It is stated that the accident was caused by the crew of train No. 2 misreading orders to meet train No. 5 at Bonaire.

A wrecking train and a relief train were sent out from Macon as soon as the news of the disaster reached the head offices of the road. The relief train reached Macon at 11 o'clock bearing the bodies of the dead and injured.

Both engines, the mail and baggage cars, and two day coaches were completely demolished. The trains were not running at a great rate of speed, but they met on a curve and the engineer had little chance to prevent the accident.

Wreck Occurred in Swamp.

The wreck occurred in a dismal swamp, and passengers describe the cries of the wounded and dying as most pitiful and heartrending. Several hours elapsed before medical aid reached the scene. Many women passengers bound the wounds of the injured with bandages torn from their clothing.

The body of Engineer Yates still lies buried beneath his engine. It will require several hours to remove the debris so that his body may be extricated.

Engineer Yates stuck to his post, and was killed outright. Engineer Fuss, of the Shoo-Fly, and Sheppard Young, his fireman, jumped, and Fuss was badly injured, but probably not fatally.

In the Macon Hospital.

All those who are injured are at the Macon hospital now under treatment. They were brought in at midnight on a relief train carried to the scene of the wreck by Superintendent Grady. The light train, southbound, was almost totally demolished, the engine and three cars, while the heavier northbound remained on the tracks. The accident will be charged to the crew of the northbound train. They were to have stopped at Bonaire, but for some reason not yet explained ignored their orders and tried to reach the next point. It was said the northbound train was running at a terrific rate.

Taft to Decorate Shackleton.

Washington, February 14.—From the hands of President Taft, Lieutenant Sir Ernest H. Shackleton, C. V. O., the Antarctic explorer, will receive the Hubbard medal of the National Geographic Society, recently awarded him. The young explorer is coming to the United States to deliver a series of lectures, the first of which will be in this city March 26.

GLAVIS ACCUSED OF HAVING STOLEN OFFICIAL LETTERS

Charge Made by Attorney Vertrees, Representing Ballinger, in Coal Land Probe.

GLAVIS SAYS ENEMIES HAVE PREPARED 'FRAME-UP'

And, Amid Cheers of Spectators, Denounces Government Official Who Would Stoop to Such a Trick---The Ballinger Inquiry Begins to Bristle With Interest.

Washington, February 14.—The Ballinger-Pinchot congressional inquiry began to bristle with interest today when John W. Vertrees, counsel for Secretary Ballinger, undertook the cross-examination of Louis R. Glavis, principal witness for the "prosecution."

The climax of the day was reached late in the afternoon session, when Mr. Vertrees announced that a box belonging to Mr. Glavis, and left in the grand jury box at Seattle, had been broken open a few days ago and that a number of letters missing from the files of the land office in Seattle, copies of which have recently been published in a weekly paper, were found therein.

Cheers for Glavis.

Glavis angrily declared that if any letters had been found in his belongings, a "frame-up" had been prepared against him. His denunciation of federal officers who would stoop to such a trick to win the favor of their superiors called out a demonstration of applause from the spectators, which caused Chairman Nelson to announce that a repetition of the outburst would result in the room being cleared.

Mr. Vertrees announced that C. A. Christiansen, Glavis' successor as chief of field division, would be called to testify to the finding of the letters.

At the morning session, Mr. Vertrees drew from the witness the fact that he made no charges of corruption against any one in the land office or the department of the interior. Glavis declared that if he had found evidence of corruption he would have taken the matter to a grand jury instead of to the president.

Ballinger and Dennett Unfit.

Through a process of elimination the witness cleared all of the other officials of any wilful wrongdoing. He asserted that he was fully convinced that the facts that he had offered in evidence warranted the judgment that neither Secretary Ballinger nor Land Commissioner Dennett was fit to hold an office of public trust.

As to Assistant Secretary of the Interior Pierce, Glavis declared he had rendered an erroneous interpretation of the coal land law of May, 1908, and that this decision, while not an act of wrongdoing, indicated that he was not fit to fill the office he now holds. Dennett, Glavis declared, was nothing more than a "tool" for Ballinger.

At the afternoon session Glavis, in response to a question by Mr. Vertrees, summed up the specific acts of wrongdoing which he charges against Secretary Ballinger. His statement was a long one, but was listened to with intense interest, and really for the first time gave a definite statement of the prosecution's case.

Mr. Vertrees began the cross-examination. He inquired first as to the knowledge Mr. Glavis had as to the amount of coal in Alaska.

The Cunningham claims, Glavis said, covered but a small part of the coal areas of Alaska—about thirty claims out of 900. Mr. Vertrees drew from him that the Cunningham claimants were the first of the Alaskan claimants to pay up on their claims, and that in numerical order they were entitled to first consideration in any investigation."

"Whitewashing of Ballinger."

Glavis said he wrote the article which on November 13 appeared in a weekly paper entitled "The Whitewashing of Ballinger; Are the Guggenheims in Charge of the Department of the Interior," but that he was not responsible "for the heading or the subheads explaining the paragraphs."

"Did you receive anything for that article?"

"Not a cent."

"What officers did you think were not protecting the people's interests?"

"Ballinger and Dennett. And Pierce, too, rendered that decision interpreting the act of May 30, 1908. Schwartz took some action I could not understand."

CANNON'S WORDS LIKE THE PRELUDE TO HIS SWAN SONG

Remarkable Speech Made by the Speaker on the Floor of the House.

"UNCLE JOE" ADMITS VERDICT IS AGAINST HIM

But He Tells Democrats When They Come Into Power They Must Stand by His Rules. Speech Indirect Appeal for the Preservation of the Old Cannon Rules.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, February 14.—(Special.)—Speaker Cannon, under the guise of discussing the rivers and harbors bill, took the floor this afternoon and uttered some notes that sounded strangely like the prelude to a swan song. He adverted to the verdict rendered against him and his dictatorship by the republican editors who voted in The Chicago Tribune poll, and vaguely and cautiously predicted the possibility of democratic success this year.

Valedictory or Defiance?

To some it sounded, according to their statements, like a note of defiance from the speaker. Others saw in it a trace of uneasiness and apprehension as to his personal and political future and that of his party. Whether valedictory address or message of defiance, may be judged by each for himself. At all events, there is no confusion of mind as to the warning Speaker Cannon gave his colleagues and the country. Incidentally he approved the rivers and harbors bill.

The motive underlying the appeal, which was made directly to the democrats, cannot be called the highest. It was part of an indirect appeal for the preservation of the old house rules and methods of procedure, and a prediction that the democrats, if successful in controlling the house, will find it necessary to resort to the same identical rules.

"Uncle Joe's" Warning.

"If we lose sight of our own importance and of our own position for the time being, there will come in our places better and wiser men who will not lose sight of the necessity to provide for an orderly procedure under which a majority can work its will; where responsibility rests there must be power with the majority to move on, being responsible," said "Uncle Joe."

"Representative" Cannon rose for the purpose of lending his approval to the pending rivers and harbors bill, but during his speech, which was of abiut 20 minutes' duration, he took occasion to refer lightly to magazine and newspaper criticism and to remind the minority members that the power of the majority was futile unless enforced by a well-oiled machine.

Cannon Thanked God.

Mr. Cannon told the house how he

STAR PLAYERS "CANNED" AND GEORGIA TECH BOYS ARE WROTH AT FACULTY

Campus Is Flooded With Signs Expressing Indignation of Boys.

Georgia Tech is in a state of eruption.

Though the faculty is trying hard to keep the lid on, the student body is boiling over and the molten lava of their wrath is threatening the very throne seats of the "powers that be."

The answer is this: The faculty—the ever "presumptous" faculty—has fired "Buck" and Mayer, and with them departed all of Tech's fond hopes for baseball supremacy.

Every year the exams sweep away a few—quite a few—and but little is thought of it. In fact, it would be a remarkable fact if some did not fall. But no one ever dreamed that such disaster as this would ever overtake them. Somehow athletes seem immune from the deadly exams.

Players Muff Examinations.

This time, though, when the final checking up was made, Buchanan, captain and star catcher, and Mayer, star shortstop, were found sadly wanting, and the faculty, like any well-behaved faculty, kindly whispered in their ears that they had flunked.

Everybody was shocked. This soon gave way to great surprise and indignation, which took various forms.

On Saturday night, as the midnight hour was approaching, a small party of enshrouded students stealthily crept from the Swan dormitory. They were armed to the teeth with paint brushes and beneath their arms were buckets of paint.

Quickly they began their work. Mural decorations of various sorts soon flowed from their brushes, and when some of the professors ambled forth for a stroll Sunday morning they were thunderstruck, petrified, transfixed.

Staring them in the face at every turn were signs such as this:

"Boggs or Baseball.

"To h— with Athletics at Tech.

"Up with Buck, down with Boggs.

"Buck is Fired, so is Mayer—Groan, Brothers, Groan.

"Toby and Boggs—the Delectable Duo."

Athletes Not Immune.

Straightway there was a mighty buzzing around the throne seat. A special meeting of the students was called for Monday morning. The chapel was crowded. Dr. Matheson rose to address the throng between two fiery bits of fresco work, in which were lovingly entwined the names of Buck and Mayer.

Dr. Matheson attempted to persuade them that it was an action which the faculty could not avoid; that it would have been done with any other student, and that they could not afford to show any favoritism to a man simply because he was an athlete.

But even this did not quell the uprising.

A mass meeting of the students will be held today, at which the matter will be discussed in full. The boys at first thought of sending a petition to the faculty, expressing their disapproval, but it soon degenerated into a "round robin." Nothing decisive has yet been done.

TOWN STAYS "DRY" 50 YEARS AND PAINTS HOUSES WHITE TO GET WATERWORKS PLANT

Hudson, Ohio, February 14.—This village voted that it was worth while to remain "dry" for 50 years in order to obtain a waterworks plant, electric lights, sewerage system and other improvements.

The electorate turned out in a body after a hot campaign and voted to accept the proposition by 162 to 97 today.

James W. Ellsworth, native of Hudson, but present millionaire resident of New York, offered the village the advantages named if it would vote dry, and stay so for 50 years; paint its houses white with green blinds and put on red tile roofs; grow hedges to replace the popular picket fences; plant shade trees and clean up.

When the offer was first made two years ago, the village promptly voted "dry" and painted itself white. Ellsworth built a boys' club and a new congregational parsonage. Discontent arose, however, among the wets and petitions for a return to the saloon were circulated, resulting in today's election. Ellsworth served notice that he would continue his portion of the improvements if the town went "dry," but that on the whole he was rather disgusted.

CARTERSVILLE "JOE CANNONS" ARE HAVING THEIR TROUBLES

Cartersville, Ga., February 14.—(Special.)—Since the downfall of "Uncle" Joe Cannon, the reputed czar of the lower house of congress, at the hands of the insurgents, a strangely coincidental fatality has seemed to become attached to the local namesakes of the great autocrat.

Joe Cannon, a much respected negro, was recently called from his home at night and shot in the back by Jesse Cooke because he would not stand and deliver, for which crime the latter named darky is now confined in the county jail awaiting the execution of his sentence of death on the 27th of this month.

Joe Cannon, the blackest negro that ever lived in this city, and one who has gained noteriety on account of his seeming love for the county chaingang, where he has spent more than 20 of his 72 years of life, is frantically calling upon his "white folks" for help to get him out of jail in Birmingham, Ala., where he is confined on a charge of murdering another negro a few days ago.

The time-worn question, "What's in a name?" has suggested itself by the coincident, and it is being remarked that a more democratic era seems to dawn, in that big guns and little guns seem to share alike.

Real Daughter 101 Years Old.

Morgantown, W. Va., February 14.—Mrs. Susannah Guseman Coburn, a "real daughter," and a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution, is 101 years old today, and in good health. Mrs. Coburn is the daughter of Abraham Guseman, who enlisted from Harper's Ferry at the age of 17 years and served for seven years in the revolutionary war. He was accidentally killed in 1821 while constructing a grist mill.

BY GAMBLING ON EXCHANGE NOBODY LOSES

Vice President of New York Cotton Exchange Responsible for the Statement.

LAW OF COMPENSATION UTTERLY FAILS TO WORK

According to Marsh, Everybody Who Gambles on New York Exchange Makes Money. There Are No Losers---Marsh Admits Fully 75 Per Cent of Trades Are Illegitimate.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, D. C., February 14.—(Special.)—Mulberry Sellers is outdone by the gentlemen appearing before the house committee on agriculture on behalf of the New York cotton exchange. They insist that on the exchange everybody makes money and nobody loses; the law of compensation is overcome. They explain that the burden of the profit taking is so widely distributed that nobody feels it.

"During 1909 cotton advanced in value one hundred per cent, but I have yet to hear of the man who lost money as the result," said a witness for the exchange.

This was the contention of A. R. Marsh, vice president of the exchange, who resumed his testimony today. He contended that the ultimate consumer of the manufactured article shouldered this burden. Advance dope on the cotton market, he said, was unreliable.

False "Dope" No Good.

"No dope that is not true can affect the market for more than a few hours," said Mr. Marsh, in reply to a question by Mr. Sims.

"But in those few hours may not men be wiped out?" said Mr. Sims.

Representative Sims asked the witness for an explanation of the operations of "scalpers" who never carry a contract longer than 24 hours; as to the truth of the report that "shorts had settled with Sully on the outside," the line of cleavage between bucket shop transactions and the quotations of the exchange, and the difference between speculation in cotton by cotton men and in contracts by exchange operators.

The reply of the witness usually took the form of illustrations of actual theoretical transactions on the exchange.

The witness thought that to prevent men who neither produce cotton nor spin it, nor ever handle it, from buying contracts on the exchange, was a restriction of individual liberty, and opposed to progress, and so serious as to amount to tyranny.

Government Report Worthless.

"There is not a word that Herbert Knox Smith says in his report on cotton exchanges about the subject of hedging that is worth anything," emphatically declared Vice President Marsh. He said the commissioner of corporations, Mr. Smith, was obsessed with past conditions when he wrote the report on the investigation of the exchange.

Futures have no effect on spot quotations, according to Mr. Marsh, who Voting for bonds.

Atlanta will today give this most important business practically her undivided attention. From the time the polls open at 7 o'clock until they close at 6 o'clock this evening hundreds of tireless workers will throng the different wards in their efforts to have the bonds carry; scores of automobiles will rush to the polls with loads of voters who could not otherwise spare the time from their work; employees of the city in every department will be given ample opportunity to cast their ballots, while in practically every store and factory, mill and shop in the city the men employed will be allowed time to put their stamp of approval upon the proposed city improvements.

Final arrangements for today's work were completed by the campaign and various ward committees yesterday and everything is in readiness for the balloting to begin. The final meeting of the campaign committee was held yesterday afternoon, when the campaign committees of the several wards met with it. At this meeting the corrected registration lists were given out and final instructions issued to the committeemen.

Announcement was made at the city hall yesterday morning that that building will be closed at 1 o'clock this afternoon in order that all employees may have time to vote. Employees in the waterworks and the sanitary departments will also draw a half-holiday in which to add their vote to the thousands which will be cast in favor of the bonds.

Most encouraging reports from all sections of the city were made at the final meeting of the campaign committee. It was shown that those in charge of a number of shops and manufacturing plants in the city will give their employees sufficient time to visit the polls during the day. In more than one railroad shop an hour has been set apart for this purpose and the employees will march to the polls in a body.

It was further reported that merchants from one end of the city to another have announced that all their clerks and other employees will be given ample opportunity to vote, while from a number of wholesale and jobbers' houses has come the information that no traveling man who is registered will be sent out of the city until after he has had ample opportunity to vote.

To Keep Workers Posted.

Arrangements have been made by which telephone connection with the various polling places will be constantly kept during the day. From each of the polls hourly reports as to the number of votes cast up to that time will be turned in to a central office, whence they will be telephoned to the other polls, giving the exact number of votes cast throughout the city up to that time. The workers in the various districts will be kept posted as to the voting in each other ward.

Vote Early, Says Committee.

The campaign committee yesterday stressed the importance of voting early. Every man to whom this is possible should vote during the early part of the day, they say, in order that there may be no congestion during the later hours. Numbers of working men cannot visit the polls until near the closing time and the managers will have their hands full managing these, it is said.

A number of automobiles have been secured to carry those whose time to vote is limited to the polls. Attention is called to the fact, however, that only a small percentage of the voters can be handled this way and all those who can make other arrangements are asked to facilitate matters by so doing.

To Telephone Voters.

The way of the registered voter who doesn't go to the polls until late this afternoon is going to resemble the way of the transgressor, for he is going to be often reminded of his duty to himself and his city. The campaign committee has secured a room on the third floor of the Ivy exchange building of the Bell Telephone Company, and from 6:45 o'clock this morning on, fifteen telephone girls will make it their business to call up the 8,000 registered voters of the city who have phones and remind them that it is time to cast ballots for the bond issue. The telephone numbers of each of these 8,000 voters have already been secured and each will be called at intervals to learn if he has yet visited the polls. The girls will have registration lists and the names of those who have voted will be checked off.

Registration List Ratified.

At a special meeting of the general council, held Monday afternoon for the purpose, the registration list as prepared by Tax Collector Andy Stewart was ratified. This list showed that 10,568 voters are registered, an error of six names having crept into the first count. This grew out of the fact that the six voters are residents of what were country districts until January 1. One of the six voters to be added lives in the third ward, one in the seventh, two in the eighth and two in the tenth.

The list as ratified shows the following registration by wards:

First ward	792
Second ward	1,710
Third ward	1,886
Fourth ward	1,239
Fifth ward	639
Sixth ward	1,739
Seventh ward	801
Eighth ward	797
Ninth ward	696
Tenth ward	269
Total	10,568

7,046 Votes Needed.

With the total registration of 10,568 and a two-thirds majority vote needed to have the bonds carry, an even 7,046 votes must be cast in favor of the bond issue to have it win. Each registered voter who does not vote is practically casting his vote against the bonds, as he is decreasing the percentage which will be cast for the improvements which the bonds will bring.

Early Voting Urged.

The fourth ward bond committee has made the following appeal for early voting:

"Headquarters Fourth Ward Bond Committee, 348 Edgewood Avenue—To All Voters of the Fourth Ward: We earnestly urge that you vote Tuesday on your way to work in the morning, or at least by 1 p. m.

"Polls located at 371 Edgewood avenue, between Boulevard and Jackson. Open at 7 a. m. and close at 6 p. m. Voters on Irwin street car line should get off at Jackson street; those in north end of ward should transfer from Pine street and Forrest avenue cars to Walker street car.

"Our plan contemplates vigorous action in the afternoon. Your voting early will greatly facilitate our work.

"Please ask every man you meet Tuesday if he has voted, and urge everyone to do so early in the day.

"Vote early and talk much. Respectfully, E. E. Pomeroy, chairman; John C. West, H. B. Wey, B. E. Pearce, T. W. Martin, T. L. Bond, W. S. Elkin, Arthur Quarles, C. J. Vaughan, M. L. Petty, A. D. Thomson, J. H. Ewing, D. W. Yarbrough, J. C. Logan, W. H. Hoey, Joseph A. McCord, fourth ward executive committee."

Minor Favors Bonds.

Councilman E. A. Minor, of the ninth ward, has written the following letter to The Constitution, giving reasons "why we should vote for bonds:"

"Because it will put in immediate circulation $3,000,000, and each ward in the city of Atlanta will get its share of this amount. When you turn $3,000,000 loose in our city every man, woman and child, rich and poor, will get some of it. The carpenters, the bricklayers, saw mills, brick makers, pipe molders, doctors, lawyers, blacksmiths, plumbers, merchants, pick and shovel men, architects, clerks and collectors.

"And through the various channels of trade this vast amount of money would find its way into the pockets of every one, besides we will be provided with such improvements as are very necessary for the city of Atlanta to have in order to improve the health conditions, give better schools, water and sewer extensions which will supply 11,500 homes now without such important improvements. I feel sure that the ninth ward will vote solidly for the bonds. Why? Because we are well provided for, for our share of the bond money. The ninth ward being the largest in the city in area and at this time entirely without water in some parts of the ward, is somewhat short on sewers, fire protection and schools. If the bonds pass, we will have all those and other improvements, which are very important for life and health of our people in our great city. If we fail to get the bonds we will be many years getting such improvements as above mentioned, besides, if bonds fail to carry, it is feared that the city of Atlanta will be compelled to levy special tax in order to take care of the situation which is now upon us. If we have to make these improvements by special taxation, we will be twenty years getting them, whereas, on the other hand, we will have them in a very short time. The amount of vacant and unimproved property in the ninth ward is great with splendid resources, opportunity for wonderful growth is fine. The ninth ward is a little boy in knee pants, one of Greater Atlanta's youngest boys. Open the flood-gates, turn loose upon us three million dollars and we will grow and spread and fill up the valleys and cover the hills with beautiful residences along streets where the improvements will come, if we get the bonds."

CRAFTING BARED BY GOV. HARMON

Corruption Found in Department of Printing.

Partner of Former Supervisor Confesses to Legislative Committee That State Was Systematically Robbed---$13,700 Divided at One Time.

Columbus, Ohio, February 14.—Chairman Beatty, of the legislative graft probe committee appointed through the insistence of Governor Harmon, announced today that J. E. Brelsford, of Dayton, former partner of Mark Slater, former supervisor of state printing, had confessed to him of wholesale grafting in the department of printing at the time that Mr. Slater was in Chicago.

According to the confession of Brelsford, from whom Slater bought goods, he and Slater divided $13,700 drawn from the state treasury on vouchers for the payment of stock never delivered to the state printing department.

Brelsford went on the stand today in the state probe investigation session and related the details of the transaction of the committee:

Mr. Brelsford was showed a warrant, No. 1256, on which he was paid $5,501.75 for goods alleged to have been sold to the state bindery on December 7, 1905. The entire list of goods itemized in the bill was read to him and he testified frankly at the conclusion that not a single item represented goods actually delivered by him to the state; that it was entirely a piece of graft.

Before testifying the committee explained to him again that the testimony he might give here could not be used against him in criminal prosecution.

On a fourth bill, dated March 27, 1906, for "24 dozen of Morocco, sorted," for which $804 was drawn, he testified that but two dozen were delivered, the cost of which was $67; that the bill was padded to the extent of $737.

WOMEN'S CIVIC LEAGUE ADOPTS GREGG'S CARTOON

The Women's Civic League has adopted a cartoon drawn by Louis Gregg, The Constitution's cartoonist, as a heading for an appeal which they ere to make to Atlanta voters today. The appeal has nothing to do with the bond election, but is an appeal for the ballot for women. The cartoon in question appeared recently in The Constitution. It showed in the background a polling place over-run with voters, while in the foreground a score of women are to be seen pushing, pulling, shoving, or driving men to the polls.

The members of the Civic League think Mr. Gregg has hit the nail squarely upon the head. They believe that if bonds carry, the influence of Atlanta women will have played no inconspicuous part in the success of the enterprise. This being the case, they believe that the women, who are affected equally with the men, should have been allowed to vote on the question, instead of being forced to use their influence at long range, as it were.

At the various polling places, hundreds of handbills setting out woman's right to the ballot will be distributed. On these circulars, Mr. Gregg's cartoon is most conspicuous.

League speaks its mind on the woman's suffrage question thusly:

Immediately under it the Civic "This well illustrates a shameful situation. Women, representing $25,000,000 of property, must lobby, work, supplicate, drag and pull some man to vote intelligently on the bond issue.

"Does it take more time away from the home to cast a vote than to canvass and caucus for weeks in order to 'influence' a voter?

"Isn't it shameful that Atlanta keeps its best citizens, on whom it depends for cleanliness and progress, disfranchised; its white women not on a political equality with many negro men?

"Do you realize that these noble women are, as to suffrage, considered in the same class as infants, lunatics and felons?

"This classification applies to your mother, wife, sister and daughter."

WOMEN OF ATLANTA WAITING FOR ANSWER TO BOND FIGHT

This, the last day in which the fight for the bonds will be made, finds a state of excitement among Atlanta women which they have never felt before in regard to a public matter. It is the first time in which the women of the city have organized to directly cooperate in a public measure and their work has been a source of interest as well as a wonderful factor in creating a universal sentiment in regard to the matter.

Investigation has been made, not only in the matter of testing the spirit of the people in regard to the bonds, but of the general conditions surrounding women in many parts of the city rarely visited and about which little is known.

Whatever may be the result of the election, the women who have worked will not regret their effort, since it has opened to them new mediums through which to work, and they realize that one of the first is to bring the message of cooperation to women in the isolated communities.

Mrs. Jones Writes.

Letters containing expressions from various women still come to Mrs. Woods White, chairman of the woman's campaign committee for bonds, among them the following from Mrs. Jerome Jones:

"From the industrial class I should think that the mothers should be vitally interested in the passage of the bonds. Particularly so, for to them it means much. Our women are the custodians of our children; on the mothers rest the responsibility and care of the future moral and intellicual youth. Where we have advantages of schools, pure and healthy atmosphere for our work, the burden is minimized. So much is needed. First, more and better schools, hospitals, sanitary improvements, and a great many other necessities that combine to make this one grand city.

"While some possess the luxuries of life, there are some that have not the necessities, and why cast aside such a grand opportunity and make those that are without, have a few, if not all that they so desire to make them happy and comfortable? The sure and only means to relieve Atlanta of the embarrassment that surrounds her is for every voter to cast his vote for the passage of the bonds.

"MRS. JEROME JONES."

Mrs. Eplan Writes.

"Mrs. W. Woods White, City: I notice you are taking much interest in the coming election for 'bonds,' which are to be voted upon the coming week. As a director of the Jewish Ladies' Charity Society of our city, beg to state that I cover our city from one end to the other each week and find conditions at Grady Hospital and other conditions about the city just as pictured by our press.

"We need the bonds and must have them, otherwise we shall sacrifice much human life for the neglect of our voting members of our families not giving this matter the necessary attention. I shall urge every lady of the society to have their families vote on Tuesday and also assure you they are willing to assist you in this grand movement for the betterment of humanity.

"You may call on me or our society for any assistance that you may desire, and I assure you it will be granted.

"Hoping we shall succeed in this great public necessity on Tuesday next,

"I remain sincerely yours,

"MRS. LEON EPLAN.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION TO ADOPT 168 GAMES

Chicago, February 14.—The American Association will adopt a 168-game schedule for 1910 at its annual meeting here tomorrow, the season probably to open on April 13 and close about September 26.

The schedule committee, composed of Chairman W. H. Watkins, of Indianapolis; George Tebeau, of Kansas City, and M. E. Cantillon, of Minneapolis, has drawn up a list of dates which will probably be adopted tomorrow without any opposition. According to the present draft, the openings will be "home and home," the eastern clubs opening in eastern cities and vice versa.

According to President T. M. Chivington, the adoption of the schedule will be the only matter of importance to be brought before the present meeting.

had voted for a river and harbor bill during Arthur's administration, and explained that he had voted to pass the measure over the president's veto. He said he had had some trouble in justifying that vote before his constituents, but he said he did so.

"I thanked God then, as I thank God now," said Mr. Cannon, "that that constituency, agricultural district as it is today, had the patriotism crossed with breadth and intelligence to stand by me at the polls."

Referring to his trip down the Mississippi with President Taft in connection with newspaper attacks at that time, Mr. Cannon said:

"When I turned to come back from New Orleans, from the criticisms I received and that many others received, not founded upon correct information, it made me wonder whether I was afoot or horseback, whether I was I or somebody else.

Blow at the Newspapers.

"I expect we will continue to receive all kinds of correct and fake information that is fished for here and there," continued the speaker, "in order that our great metropolitan journals may continue, some of them, to make their papers from day to day, like the Yankee made his razor, to sell. But I desire to say to the gentlemen on both sides of the house that in the last analysis, out of the two great organizations, the minority from time to time putting the majority on its good behavior, will come correct legislation and correct appropriations for the greatest good of the people of the republic."

Effective Home Cure for Tuberculosis

It is a serious matter, when the lungs are affected. A trip away, or to a sanatorium, is not only tremendously expensive, but it involves separation from home and friends. Some are benefited; but none can safely return to their homes.

Eckman's Alterative is effective in curing Bronchitis, Asthma, and more serious affections of the lungs. No leaving home and friends is necessary. For instance:

231 South Atlantic Avenue, Haddonfield, N. J.

Gentlemen: In the fall of 1905, I contracted a very severe cold which settled on my lungs. At last I began to raise sputum and my physician then told me I must go to California immediately. At this time I was advised to take Eckman's Alterative. I stayed at home and commenced taking it the last week in October. I began to improve and the first week in January, 1906, I resumed my regular occupation, having gained 25 pounds, fully restored to health. It is now four years since my cure has been effected and I cannot praise Eckman's Alterative too highly. I have recommended it to others with excellent results.

VOTERS PARADE AFTER BONFIRE

Brilliant Ending for the Bond Campaign.

Bonfire on Taylor's Hill Lights the Whole City---Two Thousand Voters in Line of March. Mayor Maddox Makes Address From Grady Monument.

A brilliant bonfire on Taylor's hill and an address to two thousand Atlantans from the foot of the Grady monument by Mayor Maddox last night closed the bond campaign.

The voting comes today, and if the citizens of Atlanta show anything like the enthusiasm for bonds the first warders manifested Monday night, the counting of the votes only remains.

For two or three days the big bonfire on old Taylor's hill, immediately west of Elliott street, between the Southern railroad and the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic tracks, has been anticipated by the people of the first ward as the pyrotechnic finish of the bond campaign. Under the direction of J. R. Smith the bonfire was prepared. Two hundred empty oil barrels were gathered and piled upon each other until the top reached 40 feet. Then at each of the four corners and half-way between were planted barrels half filled with naptha. The pyre being completed, a match only was necessary to bring about the brilliant blaze that illuminated the whole city.

Special watchmen were placed around the combustible material to guard it until time came for the match striking.

Two thousand torches had been provided by the first ward committee, and these, under the directions of Mr. Smith, were placed in the hands of residents of that ward and advocates of bonds from other wards.

At 8 o'clock Mayor Maddox reached the scene. Along the viaduct were scattered great throngs of people, many ladies being in the gathering. As the mayor went over the viaduct he was recognized, and was given warm greeting. Reaching the oil-soaked barrels he was met by Mr. Smith and escorted to the train of oil leading to the barrels. The mayor struck a match, and in a second a brilliant blaze was going skyward.

The bright light was a signal to the torch-bearers, and within a second there was a myriad of stars along the viaduct. A mighty cheer went up, and Bob Maddox, Atlanta's young mayor, managed to push his way through a crowd of congratulating friends to his position in the front ranks of the marching line immediately behind the Wedemeyer band.

Headed by a platoon of police the line moved down Mitchell street to Pryor, up Pryor to Hunter, up Hunter to Whitehall, along Whitehall to Peachtree and to Luckie. Then it went down Luckie to Tabernacle place, to Marietta, where it took Marietta to the Grady monument.

There Mayor Maddox mounted the Grady monument. Mr. Smith complimented the first ward upon the magnificent showing it had made in the line of march, and presented Mayor Maddox.

The mayor, after complimenting the first ward on the magnificent demonstration made by the first ward, declared that he believed the ward would make a better showing by its vote today. It was an enthusiastic reception the mayor received in his brief speech. He closed by saying:

"Boys, I'm with you all the time."

That expression particularly caught his large audience.

contended that the law of supply and demand governed both. He suggested that some of the members of the committee seemed to believe the conduct of the cotton business is on an exceedingly mechanical basis, and he insisted that it must be understood that the cotton merchants base their business on a multitude of things.

Exchange Men Not School Boys.

"Do not get it into your head," he warned them, "that the handling of the commodity is conducted by men who really need no more minds than shool boys."

Mr. Marsh thought it was one of the most remarkable things about the cotton market that it often goes up when it is expected to go down, and goes down when it is expected to go up. No "dope" that is untrue can affect the price of cotton more than a few hours, he said.

Representative Sims asked for Mr. Marsh's views as to the feasibility of levying a tax on future transactions.

"You cannot draw a law today taxing contracts for future deliveries in New York without its applying to delivery anywhere in the United States," replied the witness.

After the Speculators.

"Would not such a law eliminate the bona fide speculator?" insisted Mr. Sims, but Mr. Marsh did not answer the question.

Mr. Sims tried to show that it is the speculator the committee proposed to reach and that if they could be eliminated and the exchange maintained without them, he would vote for legislation that would effect that result.

Mr. Lever elicited from the witness that about 75 per cent of the transactions carried on in the exchange were illegitimate ones, those in which delivery of cotton is not contemplated by buyer or seller.

The witness replied that that question was almost as personal as the one which Mr. Sims asked him Friday, when the witness resented the query as an insult to every member of the exchange.

WILL HIGH COURT FAVOR M'LENDON

Growing and Persistent Rumor Is to That Effect.

Decision in the Famous Gray-McLendon Quo Warranto Suit Shortly Expected---Court to Begin Handing Down Decisions Tomorrow.

There is a growing and persistent rumor to the effect that the forthcoming decision of the supreme court in the case of Gray vs. McLendon will favor the suspended commissioner.

It is, of course, impossible to verify a rumor about such a thing as a supreme court decision which is not rendered, still it will pot down, and there are even those who insist that they heard it authentically from somebody else who heard it authentically from somebody else.

The report even goes so far as to suggest a divided court; that while the majority stand with the suspended commissioner, there is likely to be at least one dissent.

The supreme court will begin handing down decisions tomorrow; but the first to come, it is expected, will be those in cases which have come over from the March term, 1909.

But that the decision in the McLendon case will be forthcoming within the next few days, is said to be practically certain.

This would mean the court has discussed the case and made up its mind, after which it takes some little time to get the formal opinion in shape for publication.

If the decision, soon expected, bears out this persistent rumor, it will mean the restoration of former Chairman S. G. McLendon to a place on the board, not, of course, as chairman, but as a member of it.

It would mean that Mr. McLendon would receive his salary as a commissioner for the entire period during which his suspension has held.

Commissioner Gray would lose his office, but, it is stated, the state will have to pay him salary for the service rendered.

Walked Into Trap Protecting Chicken House.

Wife of South Carolina Farmer May Die From Wounds Inflicted by Trap-Gun Set to Catch Chicken Thieves.

Columbia, S. C., February 14.—Walking into a shotgun trap set by her husband to catch chicken thieves, Mrs. George L. Noel, of Newberne county, yesterday received wounds which will likely prove fatal.

Noel, a well-to-do farmer, finding himself unable to prevent nightly raids upon his poultry, arranged a shotgun so that it would be discharged by any pull upon cords surrounding his chicken house. Mrs. Noel, who did not know of her husband's precautions, stumbled over the cords while doing late evening chores and received the heavy charge in her right leg. The limb will have to be amputated.

"PITCHFORK" SPEECHES TO BE MADE PUBLIC

Seal of Secrecy Removed From Tillman's Attacks on Roosevelt.

Washington, February 14.—Senator Tillman's "pitchfork" eloquence in condemnation of former President Roosevelt's appointment of a negro collector of customs at Charleston, S. C., which has lain in the senate closet for executive secrets for more than two years, will be given to the public. The senate today ordered the injunction of secrecy removed from all its records in the case of Dr. William D. Crum, who failed of confirmation.

The speeches by Senator Tillman in opposition to the nomination were never put down by the senate stenographers. Mr. Tillman, however, has copies, and he desires to use them in forthcoming public utterances on the race question. The senate's action gives him this right.

ROAD TO GULF TO BE BUILT

G. S. & G. Will Purchase Albany & Northern.

W. M. Legg, Well-Known Railroad Man, Named as Head of New Railroad Combine, Which Will Connect Albany With Gulf.

Albany, Ga., February 14.—(Special.) Announcement was made here this afternoon that W. M. Legg had been made vice president and general manager of the Albany and Northern railway, succeeding J. S. Crews, who remains treasurer of the road. Mr. Legg is in Albany, and has taken charge of the office.

This can mean but one thing, that the Georgia Southwestern and Gulf has secured the Albany and Northern, and will immediately extend the line to St. Andrews Bay, Fla.

Announcement of formal sale of the road is expected in the course of the next few days.

The Albany and Northern runs from Albany to Cordele. At the latter place it taps the Seaboard Air Line, Georgia Southern and Florida and Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic. At Albany it connects with the Seaboard, Central of Georgia, Atlantic Coast Line and Georgia Northern. The road was built about twenty years ago, and is one of the best short independent lines in the state. Its headquarters are in Albany. The Hambleton family, of Baltimore, has for a number of years controlled the property, and it has long been a question whether the interests represented by Mr. Legg or the Seaboard Air Line would succeed in acquiring it. It is believed the Seaboard was unwilling to pay as much as the successful bidders were willing to pay.

Will Extend to the Gulf.

The road will be immediately extended from Albany to the Gulf of Mexico. The survey was made several years ago. It is presumed that the name of the Albany and Northern will be changed, and work on the extension southward is expected to begin within the next ninety days. The line will go direct from Albany to Newton, giving the county seat of Baker its first railroad, and from there to Colquitt, Miller county. Thence it will run to Donalsonville, Decatur county, and to Marianna and St. Andrews Bay, Fla. The latter is considered one of the "coming" ports on the Gulf of Mexico. The river and harbor bill, just reported to the house, provides for digging a channel which will give ocean-going vessels dock facilities not now enjoyed, and make St. Andrews a port of importance.

There have been made to the courts in this part of the state, within the last ten years, no fewer than eight applications for charter for companies proposing to build railway lines from Albany southward or southwestward to the Gulf of Mexico. The sale of the Albany and Northern will now bring about the realization of hopes which these projects have long kept alive. The road will open up one of the best sections of southwest Georgia, and transform undeveloped territory in Baker and Miller counties into one of the most productive districts of the state.

AMERICAN CONTRACTS FOR GERMAN POTASH

Kaiser's Minister of Commerce Says Contracts Will Be Protected.

Berlin, February 14.—Herr Reinhold Sydow, Prussian minister of commerce, explained in the reichstag today that the bill creating a state control of the potash production and sale was brought about through the disruption of the potash syndicate, and the long term of American contracts at prices lower than the syndicate had made previously.

When the provisions of the bill were originally published, the minister said, the American state department had protested, averring that American contracts, which did not expire within two years, would be unprotected.

Accordingly, the measures had been revised, removing the time limit during which the existing contracts with American firms might be filled, but requiring the companies filling foreign contracts to pay a certain compensation to the government monopoly. Herr Sydow said that the difficult question of the American contracts involved appeared to have been solved satisfactorily.

HOOKS OF SUGAR TRUST ON THE PHILIPPINES

Alleged That Combine Has Secured 55,000 Acres of Land in the Islands.

Washington, February 14.—Representative Martin (Dem.), of Colorado, today introduced a resolution declaring the recent sale of 55,000 acres of Friar lands in the Philippines, which he alleges to have been made to "a representative of the Havemeyer sugar interests," to be a violation of law, denouncing the department of justice for upholding it and demanding an investigation.

The sale, according to the resolution of Mr. Martin, was in violation of the 2,500-acre limitation upon sales of Philippine public lands to associations, or corporations, as expressly applying to Friar lands, and "affects the peace and welfare of the Filipinos."

The decision of the department of justice upholding the decision will permit of the "unlawful monopolization of all Friar lands, amounting to more than 400,000 acres of the richest and most desirable lands in the Philippines," Mr. Martin says, "thereby reducing the Filipinos to a state of peonage for the sole benefit of the sugar trust."

NEGRO IS STILL AT LARGE

Notwithstanding Number of Posses From Cartersville

Cartersville, Ga., February 14.—(Special.) — Notwithstanding a diligent search carried on for several days by a posse of determined and enraged men, no trace has yet been found of the "short black negro, wearing light pants and cap and dark coat" who, it is alleged, attempted an assault on Mrs. Jesse Satterfield.

A large number of the employees of the Jenkins saw mill, where the alleged assault took place, as well as a great many neighbors, joined in the chase, but to date no negro answering the description has been seen.

TO CALL SPECIAL TERM TO TRY FLORIDA BOY

Judge Jones Will Probably Accede to Request Made by Many Citizens.

Deland, Fla., February 14.—Judge Minor S. Jones, of the circuit court, today was requested to hold a special term of court for the trial of Ernest Hanchett, charged with killing Cleavie Tedder, the 14-year-old daughter of Perry Tedder, whom he had waylaid while on the road to the postoffice near her home. After Hanchett was secreted out of the county by Sheriff Smith yesterday the boy is said to have confessed the crime.

Hanchett is being held in the jail at Orlando, Fla., 50 miles south of here, where he is closely guarded for fear of mob violence.

The Tedder girl was killed late Saturday afternoon after she had been dragged from her bicycle and when found the body was covered with 63 knife wounds and the clothing had been stripped from her. The ground surrounding the body showed that the child had fought desperately before being killed.

Posses at once took up the hunt for the murderer and when news was received that Hanchett had been arrested a mob surrounded the jail and it was with difficulty that Sheriff Smith escaped with his prisoner. Hanchett was hurried to Daytona by automobile and from thence was taken to Orlando.

Georgia's State Chemist Praises Cottolene.

Mr. J. H. McCandless, State Chemist of Georgia, before a recent gathering gave emphatic testimony to the high quality of Cottolene. He said:

Mr. McCandless then pointed out why a pure refined vegetable oil base, such as is used in Cottolene, is the only assurance a woman has of a clean, digestible cooking product.

Mrs. Livingston's Horses in Evidence at Jacksonville

Her Starboard, 30 to 1; Skyo, 3 to 1; King of Yolo, 9 to 5, and Ceremonious, 10 to 1, Upset the Talent by Getting Home in Front.

Jacksonville, Fla., February 14—Several good things were put over at Moncrief Park this afternoon, among them Mrs. Livingston's Starboard, Skyo, Ceremonious and King of Yolo. Tips on these were freely circulated, and the volume of money wagered on them made the layers uncomfortable when it came to paying off. There were only two winning favorites, Royal Captive and Descomnets. Ideal weather attended the running of today's card and an excellent crowd was in attendance. As a result of a misunderstanding with Manager Brown, R. F. Carman, the New York millionaire, has decided to ship his stable of forty horses to Tampa Bay. Summaries:

"SEAMAN" HAYES LOST TO JEM DRISCOLL

London, February 14.—Jem Driscoll tonight defeated "Seaman" Hayes for the featherweight championship of England and a purse of $5,000 before the National Sporting Club. Driscoll soon had Hayes at his mercy, and the referee stopped the contest in the sixth round to avert a useless knockout. The twenty-round bout between Digger Stanley, the bantam champion of England, and Young Pierce, an American negro, ended in a draw.

JACK ROBINSON MEETS BUCKLES

Welters Box at Monroe Athletic Club Tonight.

Guy Buckles, the Omaha welterweight, meets Jack Robinson, the New York welter, at the Monroe Athletic Club, in the Steiner-Emery building, on Viaduct place, tonight, and local fans are going to have the treat of their lives in the boxing game.

Buckles met Robinson in New Orleans some time ago, and the bout ended in a draw, according to the decision of the referee, but the New Orleans papers gave Buckles the best of the argument. Buckles met Jimmy Clabby and went ten rounds to a draw with him. The latter defeated Robinson in two rounds, and Billy Griffith in one, so Buckles must be a classy boxer.

Two corking good preliminaries have been arranged for, the first one starting at 9 o'clock. Billy West, the New York welter, who made such a good showing in two bouts here, has been signed up to meet the winner of this bout next week.

On Thursday night Martin Monroe, the New York lightweight, a newcomer to local fans, will take on Mike Knockemoffski, and this card should also be a pippin. Monroe is a good boy, and his namesake, the local promoter, believes that he will give the local lad a good time while they are in the ring.

ESSAY CONTEST NEARING THE END

But Two Weeks More Remain to Write Essays.

Yesterday's mail brought to the essay editor several new essays on which position on a baseball nine is the most vital to the success of a team in winning games, and some of the essays were good ones, too.

The essay contest has proven popular not only in Atlanta but in the neighboring Georgia cities, and the fans in this section of the south evidently are well posted on the merits of the various positions on a baseball team, for they have been giving some mighty good reasons for picking a certain position as the most vital to the success of a team.

The contest has but two weeks more to run, and yet fans who have not written essays as yet had better get busy at once. No one has any inside track on the prizes as yet. Every one has a good chance to win the awards, and some of the late arrivals may turn in better reasons than those already in.

The six prizes are: First, a season pass, entitling the holder to free admission to every game played at Ponce de Leon this season. The second and third prizes are two tickets to the opening game of the season. The fourth, fifth and sixth prizes are one ticket to the closing game of the opening series of the season.

PITCHERS' TARGET FOR REDS' TWIRLERS

Clarke Griffith Has Device to Perfect Control of Twirlers.

Cincinnati, February. 14.—Manager Griffith has let a contract for a pitchers' target to be used by his twirlers at Hot Springs. It is a sort of a shooting gallery with moving swings in which two discs hang from wires and are made to swing. The pitcher takes his stand at the regulation distance and tries to hit the spot on the target.

An arrangement has been perfected whereby the balls will roll back to the pitchers. He says he will have a scorer watch the men and make a daily report showing the number of "strikes and balls."

Woodstock, Ga., February 14.—(Special.)—The Bill Dobbs house, about three miles south of here, burned about 12 o'clock today. The house was occupied by John Ivey. He and his wife were away from home at the time the house burned, only some small children being at home.

There was seed cotton in one room of the house, and it is supposed that possibly the children playing in the cotton struck a match to it.

GEORGIA FIVE HERE WEDNESDAY

Play the Atlanta Athletic Club Basketball Team.

Athens, Ga., Feb. 14.—(Special.)—The University of Georgia basketball five is putting on the finishing touches to the work preparatory for the games this week with Auburn and the Atlanta Athletic Club.

Both games will be played on the opponents' courts, and the Georgians realize the necessity for hard work, and plenty of it, and, though they got away with the large end of the score when Auburn played in Athens, there is no doubt in any one's mind that the games this week will be hard fought contests. But the men under Captain Peacock are working hard and, although two of them are slightly out of condition, the five will be in good shape by Wednesday.

"ALL WOMEN NOT FIT TO BEAR CHILDREN"

Dr. Sarah M. Hicks Speaks on "The Century of the Child."

Before the Atlanta Mothers' Congress held at Trinity M. E. church yesterday, a paper was read by Dr. Sarah M. Hicks on "The Century of the Child." She said that one sign of the times is that current publications are dealing more and more with this subject all the time.

The world needs to reach a consciousness of the holiness of generation, and the world will not do that until it fully changes its point of view.

"I do not think every woman is fitted to bear children," she said. "Some women have no mother instinct, sad as it is to say it."

Professor Henry W. Rose, who was a privileged visitor, raised the question of the inclusion of such stories as "The Three Bears" in school readers. He said he strongly objected to such falsehoods. The matter was discussed, and Dr. Hicks said she did not think it a good plan to put before a child anything that is not true.

FLAMES THREATEN TOWN OF MADISON

Fire Destroys Big Manufacturing Plant.

Madison, Ga., February 14.—(Special.)—The Madison Variety Works Company, a large manufacturing enterprise of this city, was consumed by fire early this morning.

The fire originated in the office and quickly spread to all parts of the building. Nothing was saved in the building. The fire department of the city made a hard fight and saved most of the lumber in the yard and outhouses.

At one time the whole town was in imminent danger and but for the efforts of the firemen the worst might have happened.

The loss is estimated at $10,000, only partly covered by insurance.

The Madison Variety Works Company was an incorporated institution, and was one of the largest and most useful enterprises of Madison.

The company will begin almost immediately the erection of a large, splendid brick structure on the burnt site.

IMMUNITY BATH NOT FOR HEIKE

"Man Higher Up" in the Sugar Scandal Loses.

Court Holds That Secretary of the Trust Is Not "Immune" and Must Stand Trial on Charge of Consipracy Against Government.

New York, February 14.—Charles R. Heike, secretary of the American Sugar Refining Company, the so-called sugar trust, is not "immune." He must stand trial beginning March 1 next, on indictments charging him, with other employees of the company, of conspiring to defraud the government by underweighing imports of sugar.

For weeks past counsel for Heike have attempted to prove before a jury in the United States circuit court that Heike should not be prosecuted in view of testimony he gave before the grand jury which returned the indictments. But in this they failed, for Judge Martin ruled this afternoon that in the court's opinion the defendant was not entitled to immunity, and accordingly he instructed the jury to bring in a formal verdict dismissing the plea interposed in the secretary's behalf.

In arguing for immunity, counsel for Heike admitted his guilt, but maintained that, though guilty, his grand jury testimony was a bar to prosecution. This led the government lawyers to the recent announcement that if the plea was not sustained the government would move for immediate sentence on the ground of admission of guilt. No such action was taken today, however. Heike's lawyers changed the plea to "not guilty," and time for trial was fixed.

In ruling against Heike today, Judge Martin referred to the danger that would follow if indiscriminate pleas at bar were entertained, or allowed, and the opportunity it would give rich men to avoid the administration of justice. There had been no evidence, he said, to show that the government was animated by bad faith in bringing the defendant before the grand jury, or that any effort was made to extract testimony from the defendant that might be used against him.

The Goat and the Vote

There was once a Small Boy who was the proud possessor of a William Goat.

One day the Boy and the Goat were playing together, when suddenly in the altogether unceremonious fashion peculiar to billies, the Goat ran at the Boy, bowled him over and gave him a correct imitation of a head-on collision.

The Small Boy picked himself up sorely and ran to Mother for comfort. Mother, by the way, was a devout Christian Scientist. She listened most sympathetically while laddie told his troubles. Then she said, soothingly:

"But, dear, you musn't mind a little bump like that. You know you are a Christian Scientist."

"Yes, Muvver," he wailed, rubbing the hurt place, "I know I am, but the Goat don't know it."

A very old joke, but--
There's a moral.
It's this, gentle reader:
You are for Bonds, all right. Of course you are.
What good will it do if your vote doesn't show it?
Today is the day.

BAILEY MAKES PLEA FOR THE INCOME TAX

Texas Senator Addresses the Legislature of South Carolina.

Columbia, S. C., February 14.—Senator Bailey, of Texas, speaking before the members of the general assembly of South Carolina tonight on the proposed amendment to the constitution with reference to the income tax, declared that the fate of the proposed amendment lay with the South Carolina legislature. It was his opinion that the only means to raise the necessary revenue for the government, provided the tariff decreased under a future democratic administration would be the income tax. The working of a federal income tax was explained. A federal income tax, in his opinion, would tax according to wealth and not population. Absentee landlords, the republican party and unjust riches were scored by the Texas senator. He was cordially received.

PREACHER FORGED TO GET TO PULPIT

But Fraud Was Discovered and He Passed Sunday in Jail.

Evansville, Ind., February 14.—The fact that the Rev. H. D. Helwig was compelled to spend Sunday in the Evansville jail did not prevent him from holding services, though he had for his congregation not people of Tennessee, as he had anticipated, but a motley array of men, who, like himself, were prisoners.

On Saturday Rev. Helwig was arrested by the Evansville police on a charge of forgery. He confessed that he had passed a fraudulent check for $50 here, saying he did it to get money enough to take him to Clarksville, Tenn., where he had an engagement to fill the pulpit. He told the police he formerly was pastor of the Methodist church at Fremont, Neb., and had had charges at Thurston, Neb., and elsewhere.

As the Bankers' National Bank, which he victimized, recovered $48 of the $50, it is said he will not be prosecuted.

YOUNG MAN GOT $50 ON WORTHLESS CHECK

Moore Admits He Is Not Son of Atlanta Man.

Columbus, Ga., February 14.—(Special.)—The young man arrested at Troy, Ala., charged with cashing a worthless check for $50 in Columbus, and who gave the name of C. T. Moore, has been brought back from Alabama. He admits that he is not the son of an Atlanta traveling man, as he first claimed, and it is alleged, also, makes a clean admission of the entire affair.

The Bush-Phillips Hardware Company, of Columbus, let him have $50 on the strength of an alleged telegram from "J. W. Moore," which telegram proved to be a forgery. It developed that the young man got hold of a telegraph blank and stole a delivery book from a telegraph messenger boy, which was used in the delivery of the fake telegram. A telegram was received today to hold "G. T. Moore," as he is also wanted for jail-breaking in Anniston, Ala.

"THE CRISIS!"

VOTE FOR BONDS!

Beyond the bonds lies a new Atlanta.

Why not commission Mr. Ballinger to find Dr. Cook?

Send him back his ring, if he fails to vote for bonds!

There is no doubt about the patriotism of Atlanta's advertisers.

If you omitted to register, at least get behind the man who did.

We have been remembering the Maine for just twelve years today.

Vote early, and carry another registered friend of the bonds with you.

In spring the congressman's fancy shrewdly turns to thoughts of garden seed.

If your husband fails to vote for bonds, hand him old buckwheats the rest of the winter.

Taft being the original great Harmonizer, perhaps he can do things to the governor of Ohio.

Strangely enough, we have not yet heard of any hunters shooting a man by mistake for a quail.

Don't let weather or pleasure or money-making keep you from the polls. Vote for bonds!

Dr. Cook is reported in Chile. That has probably been his state ever since he heard last from Copenhagen.

What the average girl likes about an engagement ring, is when it's larger than her best girl friend's.

Wonder if prohibition could have had anything to do with the increased importation of foreign drinkables?

A news story says the "supporters of Taft are distressed." If he is still taking on weight, we don't blame them.

Tariff statistics show increased consumption of coffee and booze for 1909. But, it must be remembered, there are more of us.

Talk of making the trusts obey the law sounds strangely familiar. What we should like to see is a picture of some of them doing it.

Mr. Taft appears to have persuaded himself that petty and grand larceny are not such when they are committed by the republican party.

Men in public life in Washington are soon to "air their hobbies" at a dinner. The prevailing theme will be the problem of reelection.

Commander Peary's reputation as a discoverer is liable to suffer setback, if he was really hunting an admiral's commission at the North Pole.

The Chicago Aero Club is said to be composed of satiated automobilists. They are of a class that ought to know all about "high flying."

New York is called the graveyard of preachers. Well, maybe some of them would rather be "buried" with a good salary than to try to keep on living upon a pittance.

It was to be expected that Mr. Fairbanks would assert himself by breaking into the limelight. It isn't fair that his former associate should be getting all of the national attention.

TODAY'S POLLS, THE ALTAR OF THE HEARTHSTONE.

At each one of the polling places today an altar of the hearthstone is reared.

The glory and the reputation of Greater Atlanta turn upon the bonds.

That is an overshadowing stake, but it is not the largest one.

WITHIN THE FOUR WALLS OF YOUR COTTAGE OR MANSION ARE THE LIVING AND BREATHING REASONS WHY YOU SHOULD VOTE FOR THE BONDS.

You seek success, you endure hardship, for what?

FOR THE BRAVE WOMAN OUT THERE AT THE OTHER END OF THE DAY'S WORK, FOR THE FLOWER-LIKE CHILDREN WITH ARMS TWISTING TENDRIL-WISE ABOUT YOUR NECK; THEIR LOVE SITTING AT YOUR SIDE DURING THE GRINDING DUTIES OF THE DAY AND WINDING ITSELF WITH THE FRAGRANCE OF HOPE AND INNOCENCE AND PURITY ABOUT YOUR HEART.

Is it not that the battle is worth while, because of their sweet compulsion? Then—

A vote for bonds means—

A VOTE FOR THE CHILD TODDLING AT YOUR SIDE OR TUGGING AT YOUR ARM.

A vote for bonds means—

A VOTE FOR THE CHILD OF THE FUTURE, THE CHILD YET TO BE BORN TO OPPORTUNITY AND TO DUTY IN ATLANTA.

The citizen of tomorrow, living or to be born, calls aloud to your conscience for a fair start, unhandicapped by disease, by threat of death, by lack of educational facilities.

GIVING THE PRESENT AND COMING CITIZEN A FAIR START MEANS MAKING ATLANTA 100 PER CENT SANITARY, BY WIPING OUT ELEVEN THOUSAND DEATH-DEALING EARTH-CLOSETS AND BY CLOSING UP UNSPEAKABLE OPEN SEWER OUTLETS.

That is the issue of today. Details now are subordinate. They have been hammered home until every Atlantan knows, or should know, them by heart.

No conscientious voter will seek to evade responsibility to take refuge in the soothing deception of postponement.

As to the business side: A vote for the bonds today is cast under conditions that would be eagerly accepted by any sane business man.

THE PASSAGE OF THE BONDS MEANS THAT THE IMPROVEMENTS THEY COVER WILL SO INCREASE THE CITY'S REVENUES AS TO RETIRE BOTH PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST ON THE ISSUE.

NOT A CENT'S TOLL WILL REST UPON ONE CITIZEN.

ON THE OTHER SIDE, AS THE ONLY ALTERNATIVE, LIES AN INCREASE IN DIRECT TAXATION. SHOULD THE BONDS FAIL, ANY DAY URBAN OR SUBURBAN NEIGHBORHOODS MENACED BY SEWER OUTLETS OR INSUFFICIENT SANITARY FACILITIES MIGHT GO INTO COURT AND COMPEL IMMEDIATE REMEDY.

THAT WOULD MEAN DIRECT TAXATION, VISITED UPON EVERY TAXPAYER.

BUSINESS MAN, WAGE-EARNER, TRY THAT PROPOSITION AT THE BAR OF COMMON SENSE. A VOTE FOR BONDS IS THE ONE SANE ANSWER.

At the last, this remains—

THE CITIZEN OF TODAY AND TOMORROW, THE WIFE, THE CHILD—CALL PLEADINGLY TO THE MAN WITH THE BALLOT IN HIS HAND.

BEFORE THE TRIBUNAL OF MANHOOD, AT THE ALTAR OF THE ALMIGHTY—SEE THAT YOU ANSWER THAT CALL!

PRESIDENT TAFT'S NEW SPEECH.

It is difficult to see what President Taft hopes to gain by his persistent and emphatic defense of a tariff bill which many of his strongest partisans openly admit, even assert, does not accord with republican platform promise.

Though not in insurgent territory, he had scarcely a more favorable audience in New York than in Winona for exploitation of his defense of the Payne-Aldrich measure.

Judging by the press reports, that portion of his speech does not seem to have taken well; general opinion appears to be that it would have been better for him to have said nothing whatever upon the subject of the tariff.

However, his opponents will not seriously complain; they will devise ways and means of turning to use what even some of his foremost friends admit was a blunder.

Defenders of the Payne-Aldrich tariff may talk all they please about its downward revision; the man who eats and wears clothes is looking for it in vain.

The consumer who gets nothing out of the tariff but the privilege of paying the duty when he buys food and clothing, is in the vast majority; if there is one article which is costing him any less than it did prior to the enactment of the present tariff, he has not yet been able to discover it.

The president's defense of a tariff which has brought this consumer relief in no visible or material direction, is not going to appeal to him very strongly.

Truth is the beneficiaries of what downward revision there is in the new bill are large manufacturers and importers in certain lines, and not the man who has to draw a diagram of his salary every week and then stretch it with a block and tackle in order to make it cover the cost of his necessities.

Although he had a right to expect it to some extent at least, it is too evident that none of the downward revision was made for him.

Discussing other questions prominent before the country, President Taft promises fulfillment of republican platform pledges.

In many respects such fulfillment should be speedy; there are many things proposed which will, undoubtedly, tend to the betterment of the national condition.

But it is to be hoped that such fulfillment will be a very different sort from that of which we have had a very doubtful and unsatisfactory example in legislation regarding the tariff.

If it is not, there is liable to arise even more difficulty in defending it.

COST OF MAIL TRANSPORTATION.

President Ralph Peters, of the Long Island Railroad, in an interesting letter regarding the cost of mail transportation, published today, approves the position taken by The Constitution, that congress should take steps to find out the comparative cost of transporting the United States mails, and of the performance of similar service by the railroads for private corporations.

President Peters is undoubtedly making a sincere and earnest effort to get at the truth of the situation within his sphere of operations and to present it to the postoffice department.

If all prominent railroad officials worked upon the same high principle, the government would have less difficulty in dealing with them in matters of this sort, as well as in holding the great railroad corporations to obedience to the law.

President Peters urges, particularly in reference to the Long Island railroad, that for service rendered in the transportation of the mails, the government does not make sufficient payment to meet its actual cost.

It is possible, of course, that there may be instances in which this is true, and the postoffice department is now engaged is securing various data and statistics regarding this and other service rendered by the railroad companies, so that it may have a basis for inquiry into all phases of the question presented.

In the pursuit of this purpose it is difficult to see what information could be of more value than the comparative cost to the government and to the express companies for practically identical service.

It may be taken for granted that the railroads, generally, are not handling express business at a loss; the natural presumption is that they are making money from it.

If, therefore, a railroad hauls a thousand pounds of express freight a thousand miles for a certain price and earns a profit from it, the natural and logical conclusion is that it could make approximately the same profit by hauling a thousand pounds of mail the same distance, at the same price.

The Constitution is not the author of the charge that the government pays the railroads more for the same service than do the express companies; but since it has been so generally made and so widely circulated, we have justly and persistently demanded that the truth regarding it be made known.

The performance of that duty is up to congress.

Mysteriously enough, every time the subject is broached in congress, there is strenuous opposition to it.

This charge should be probed to the bottom both in justice to the railroads and the people.

It may be it is not well founded; nevertheless, the facts in the case should be made known.

The railroads should be paid a fair and living compensation for carrying the mails.

But there should be no shred of information withheld that will tend to establish just what that degree of compensation is.

If the officials of all railroad companies viewed his matter from the same angle as does President Peters, unquestionably this important and much desired information would be promptly forthcoming.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY WRITES OF FOREIGN COURTS

(Copyright, 1910, by the Brentwood Company.)

Baroness de Forest, whose flight with young Ashton, a subaltern of the Royal Horse Guards, has created such a stir in England, enjoyed the distinction of having been as a young girl the heroine of a jewel robbery that attracted a great deal of attention at the time.

If ever there was an elopement where publicity was necessary, it was in this instance, owing to the fact that the names of several perfectly innocent parties, notably that of one of the maids of honor to the queen, were actually printed in connection with the case, on both sides of the Atlantic, before the identity of the baroness had been established.

The baron, in spite of his great wealth, and the favor and backing formerly bestowed upon him by King Edward, is just as much out of touch with London society as was his father, the late Baron Hirsch. His English education and naturalization, his commission in the British army and his membership of London clubs, besides the most extensive hospitality at his places in Yorkshire, in Leicestershire, and in Austria, as well as at Spencer house, in London, have failed to prove sufficient to enable him to retain the good will of the people of the land of his adoption, although they were at first ready and anxious to like him, and today the sympathy of society is largely with the baroness, as it is known that her marriage has been a very unhappy one, and that young De Forest has proved just as great a failure in this union as in the case of his former marriage to Mme. Gaston Menier, which was dissolved by the courts and annulled by the church.

The baroness is the only sister of young Lord Gerard, a captain of the regiment to which the companion of her flight belongs. He is the head of one of the old Roman Catholic families—those families which possessed so great an attraction for Lord Beaconsfield, who was never tired in his novels of intimating that, titled and untitled, they constituted the most blue-blooded aristocracy of England. Although his peerage is of quite modern creation, having been conferred upon his grandfather, Lord Gerard holds a baronetcy which is the third oldest in existence, dating from 1611. The baronetcy has this to distinguish it from others of the same era—it cost no money. It may be remembered that James I founded the Order of Baronets for the purpose of replenishing his exchequer, exacting a sum equivalent to $15,000 from each new baronet created, in payment of the patent. Thomas Gerard, however, got his baronetcy for his devoted services to Mary Queen of Scots, the mother of King James, who declined to accept any money for the honor.

Lord Gerard is married to his first cousin, Miss Mary Gosselin, whose father was for so many years British minister at Washington, and for a time owned a racing stable. A few years ago, however, he became involved in a scandal at Sandown Park, which resulted in the mobbing of young DeWend Fenton on the course, and in that young man's being warned off the turf. Lord Gerard, although fully cleared by the jockey club of all blame in relation to the matter, was so embittered by the criticisms to which he had been subjected in connection with the affair, that he insisted upon selling his entire racing stable, and withdrawing from the turf. DeWend Fenton, after an interval, instituted legal proceedings against the stewards of the Jockey Club for having charged him with unfair running of his horse in a match between himself and Lord Gerard, and he also commenced an action for libel against the publishers of "The Racing Calendar" for printing the decree against him. Thereupon the Jockey Club withdrew its "warning," and the suits were stopped.

Lord Gerard, who served through the Boer war on the staff of General Sir Redvers Buller, has as his principal country seat Eastwell Park, in Kent. Seven superb avenues, lined by trees hundreds of years old, converge upon the mansion; and within the borders of the park, which dates back to times prior to the Norman conquest, there are two parish churches, which may convey some notion of its size. One of the most curious relics of the park is a cottage, or rather the ruin of one, which was occupied during a great part of his life by a natural son of Richard III. He was known as Richard Plantagenet, and from the time of the death of his hunchback father at the battle of Bosworth, until his own demise, was head gardener at Eastwell.

With the sudden death of Count Tattenbach, who represented the kaiser as his ambassador at Madrid, there disappears from the diplomatic service of Germany one of its most aggressive and pugnacious members, something of a stormy petrel, and who was singularly out of place in the capital of a people so courtly as the Spaniards. Away back in the nineties, he spent several years at Tangiers, as envoy, and distinguished himself while there by an entire absence of all suavity in his dealings with the Moorish dignitaries. Indeed, so high-handed were his methods that his foreign colleagues, when obliged to adopt stern measures verging on brutality, were wont to describe them as being "a la Tattenbach." Afterwards he was for a time German minister in Switzerland, where he became involved in so many quarrels with the Helvetian authorities that it was found prudent to transfer him to Portugal. It was while stationed there that he was named as one of the German delegates to the conference of Algeciras, where his clever wife proved so great a success that shortly after its close he was promoted to the post of ambassador at Madrid.

The countess is a daughter and heiress of that great merchant prince, Mezler, of Frankfort-on-the-Main, whose wonderful art collection, worth several millions of dollars, was bequeathed by him at his death to his native city. Although ennobled by several of the German sovereigns, including the king of Prussia, he never made use of the aristocratic predicate of "von," being infinitely more proud of his chieftainship of one of the old patrician families of the former free and independent city of Frankfort. His mansion there was the favorite rendezvous of the plenipotentiaries, when the delegates of the various sovereigns of Germany were wont to hold their sessions there, and the Prussian representative, Von Bismarck, who afterwards became chancellor, was a particularly favorite guest of old Metzler. The late Emperor William often visited the Metzlers at Frankfort, and to the end of his days showed marked good will to the daughter of the house, namely, Countess Tattenbach. The latter was the principal lady of the colony of diplomats assembled at Algeciras for the international congress on Morocco, and it was in her salons that they used to congregate, and that many differences were arranged. Indeed, by her charm of manner she went far to atone for the opiniated, cantankerous character of her husband, who was perpetually treading on everybody's toes. Now that she has become a widow, she will probably settle down at Berlin, where she may be relied upon to play an important role in the political and social world as soon as her period of mourning has expired.

G. S. & F. BUYS LOTS AT VALDOSTA FOR SHOPS

Much Work Being Done in South Georgia Town by Officials of Railroad.

Valdosta, Ga., February 14.—(Special.)—The Georgia, Southern and Florida railroad yesterday bought fourteen acres of land on the southern edge of the city, on which extensive repair shops for the road will be built. The property belonged to Messrs John and Frank Parramore, and their sister, Mrs. A. S. Pendleton, and is located in the Duke's Bay section, which has recently been drained by the city and the property owners interested. It is understood that the road paid nearly $4,000 for the land. The road will also begin work in a short time on the new shops to be built on the site, and will erect a round house to accommodate about twenty engines. A considerable force of mechanics will be employed here regularly and the repairs originating on the two southern divisions of the system will be done here.

The Georgia Southern and Florida road is also filling in four or five acres of land west of its passenger station, to a height of about 8 feet, which will increase their yard capacity more than double its present size. Ten or twelve new tracks will be laid in this place, and the work of filling in, which is now almost complete, will transform that section of the city from a low, swampy place, to dry and level yards

PRESIDENT PETERS WRITES OF COST OF HANDLING MAILS

Editor Constitution: You are right in urging that the postoffice department and congress get at the facts as to what it costs to handle the mails, and that is what we are trying to do.

The postoffice department, acting under a provision of the law of 1879, has asked all of the railroads in the country to prepare information as to the cost of handling the mails, based on the service performed during the month of November, 1909, showing the space occupied by the mails, by the express, by passengers and everything else on every train on which mail is handled, and approximating the cost and the labor performed in handling the different kinds of business carried by each train. Uniform blanks were prepared by the postoffice department and sent to all railroads. All the railroads in the United States are co-operating with the postoffice department in formulating this information on uniform lines, so that the department and congress will know, as soon as this information can be tabulated and figured out, just what it is costing the railroads to carry the mails.

Railroad companies representing over 175,000 miles of railroad have joined in appointing a committee to supervise the tabulation of the facts gathered at the request of the postoffice department in November, and this committee has a large force engaged upon the work and have offered their services to the postmaster general in connection with this tabulation, in order that the department may secure the information accurately and on uniform lines at the earliest possible date. The railroad companies know that they are not fairly compensated for the service performed in handling the mails, and are very glad of the opportunity of bringing out all the facts and information.

Long Island Underpaid.

The general impression seems to prevail that the carrying of the mails on railroad trains is merely an incident, and does not involve any expense, and therefore the railroads should practically do the work for nothing. This is erroneous, and there is no better illustration of it than our experience on the Long Island. I have been making a very careful study of the matter for several years past and find that my predecessors have done the same thing, and our case has been presented time and again to congress, where we are known as a marked example of the very inadequate and unfair method of compensating for mail service. We have been badly underpaid for many years past. The result of my examination is set forth in a letter that I addressed to the committe on postoffices and post roads of the last congress.

Taking the facts from all points of view, first on the basis of space occupied by the mails in all passenger trains, again taking it on the basis of earnings per freight car mile, again on the basis of the earnings per passenger car mile, and finally on the basis of the actual amount expended in handling the mails, and we find that we have not been in any way compensated. We certainly ought to have compensation something like equal the cost, even if we cannot get an amount that will give a reasonable interest on the investment required to enable us to perform the mail service.

Cost of Express Transportation.

Referring to your argument that the express business was handled for less money by the railroads than was charged the government for handling the mails. The ordinary basis for contracts between the railroads and the express companies, is for the railroad to get from 50 per cent to 55 per cent of the gross revenue derived from the express business for that part of the service performed by the railroad. In the case of the Long Island, the express service is performed by the railroad itself, with a special department, and all of the earnings belong to the railroad. It takes over 50 per cent of these earnings to cover the actual expenses of the railroad part of it, the balance being required for the outside wagon service, stables, agencies, offices, insurance, etc. There is some profit in the business, but it is not exorbitant. As stated to you in my first letter, our express department makes a minimum rate of 25c per package for nearby points. Had we applied this same rate to the actual number of pouches and sacks of mail handled in 1907, we should have received from the government about $180,000 for the actual mail service. If that is considered high, for the sake of argument, cut it in two and say that we should have had 12½c per each package, our compensation then would have been $90,000, whereas we actually received $41,000. In the year 1914 we were paid $38,130 by the postoffice department for handling the mails; in 1907, $41,196. The average for the 14 years was $39,738 per annum. With the reweighing in 1909, our compensation advanced to about $43,000 per annum, although it is costing us nearly four times that much to perform the service. This compensation fixed by the last quadrennial weighing, shows an increase of about 5 per cent, but the business of the postoffices on Long Island, as shown by the report of the postoffice department, has increased nearly 100 per cent. It is certainly not unreasonable for the railroad company to expect a fair increase in its compensation when the figures show that the government is doing an increased business in its postoffices of more than 100 per cent. The railroads are not asking for subsidies; they are not trying to get something for nothing, but merely asking for fair play and a fair compensation for the service rendered.

What the Government Pays.

According to the report of the postmaster general for the year 1880, the total expenditure of the department was $36,542,804, of which amount $10,500,000, or 28.7 per cent, was paid for the transportation of mail by railroads. In 1909, out of a total expenditure of $220,417,689, the railroads received for the transportation of mail matter, $49,869,374, or 22.6 per cent of the total expenditure of the department. Notwithstanding the enormous increase in volume of mail handled, and the increased responsibility in connection therewith, the arbitrary reductions in rates made by congress from time to time, have materially affected the proportion received by the railroads for the transportation of mails. If the proportions which obtained in 1880 were applied to the total expenditures of today, the railroads of the country would be receiving approximately $84,000,000 for the service they are performing.

During the above thirty-year period, the volume of mail handled has increased 500 per cent and the total expenditure of the postoffice department has increased 503 per cent, while the cost of transportation of mail by railroads increased only 275 per cent.

More striking still are the figures for the last nine years, as shown by the reports of the postmaster general, and tabulated below:

	1900	1909	Increase
Pieces of mail handled	7,129,990,202	14,004,577,271	96.4 per cent
Service in postoffices	51,214,497	102,091,070	99 "
Railway mail service	8,829,767	18,256,800	107 "
Rural delivery service	420,499	35,586,779	8400 "
Transportation by railroads	37,315,724	49,869,374	33.6 "
Transportation other means	7,794,211	12,156,228	54.6 "
Transportation foreign mails	2,155,567	2,943,849	36 "
Total	107,740,000	220,417,689	104 "

It will be observed that, during the last nine years, the volume of mail handled has increased 96.4 per cent, and the cost of handling same has increased 104 per cent. Of the elements making up the total cost, the cost of transporting by rail shows the smallest percentage increase, being only 33.6 per cent.

The above facts cannot fail to show clearly that any statement to the effect that the high cost of transportation by rail is responsible for the troubles of the department, is certainly without foundation.

I understand from the postmaster general's report that the deficit from handling second-class mail matter in the last year amounts to nearly $65,000,000. If all the appropriations for railroad mail pay were wiped out and credited to the cost of handling the second-class matter, the government would still have a deficit of nearly $16,000,000 as a result of the present system of handling the second-class matter. There is no reason why the people should expect the railroads to handle the mails for nothing in order that the magazines or those forwarding second-class matter through the mail should be subsidized to the extent of nearly $65,000,000.

At an early date I hope to be able to send you some first-class statistics bearing on this subject, which I hope you will read carefully and ponder over seriously. I know that you are fair minded and are only fighting for what is right.

SELFISH EGOTIST AND BRAGGART ARE HURLED AT EXPLORER PEARY

Washington, February 14.—Denouncing Robert E. Peary, the explorer, as a "selfish egotist" and a "braggart," Captain B. S. Osbon, secretary of the Arctic Club of America, has written a letter to the subcommittee of the house naval committee approving the latter's action in voting down the proposition to make Peary a rear admiral. The committee has received a large number of letters, some of them condemning and some approving its action. Captain Osbon says in his letter:

"The action of the subcommittee on naval affairs in the matter of Civil Engineer Robert E. Perry—not Peary—for that is an assumed name—deserves the heartiest recommendation of every American citizen who values justice and respects the United States navy.

"To have given this selfish egotist, this braggart, the rank of rear admiral, would be a foul blot on the records of congress and an insult to the navy of the United States. It would have disgusted millions of our citizens who have no confidence in this alleged Pole hunter and Arctic fur trader and story-teller, who for nearly a quarter of a century has been living off the people and sailing under a naval rank to which he has no legal right and for which he should have been severely reprimanded by the navy department long ago."

Another letter from Portland, Me., the home of Mr. Peary, written by an executive officer in the naval reserve of that state, says:

"It should be gratifying to all thinking citizens that there is a group of men in Washington who, while ready suitably and generously to recognize the distinguished achievements of Mr. Peary, refuse to be actuated or influenced by fanatical sentimentalism."

Another letter from Boston takes the committee to task for its course and says:

"Your amazing statements about Lieutenant Peary seem incomprehensible. All nations are waiting on the United States, by courtesy, before showering honors on Peary. Herschel was knighted for finding Uranus, a thousand million miles further away from the North Pole and many thousand times more 'useless' by your code."

WORK OR GO TO JAIL; CHOICE OFFERED NEGROES

Finding it next to impossible to hire negro laborers, although hundreds of them are to be found loitering about the streets, Alderman J. W. Maddox would have them jailed, and has already started a movement in this direction.

Monday the energetic representative of the fifth ward was in need of the services of two negro men. He left his place of business and for fully half an hour patrolled Peters street in search of industriously inclined Senegambians. They were conspicuous for their absence. Negroes by the score were to be found on every hand, but not one cared to work. After having accosted almost 200 Mr. Maddox chanced upon two who agreed to condescend to manual labor, but when they found that they were to ride to the scene of their endeavor in a wagon instead of a trolley car they resigned instanter.

As a result, the alderman Monday introduced at the call meeting of the council a resolution instructing the police "to run these characters into work or into jail." The resolution was carried without a dissenting voice.

LADIES MUST REMOVE HATS IN MOVING PICTURE SHOWS

Ladies must now remove their hats on entering a moving picture theater or lay themselves liable to arrest and fine as a penalty for violating an ordinance to this effect, which was passed by council on last Thursday and it became effective as soon as the official signature had been appended thereto.

Notwithstanding this fact, however, it is believed to be well within the range of probabilities that the ordinance will be either amended or repealed within a short time. Not only are the proprietors of motion picture theaters much exercised over the passage of the ordinance, but from every quarter the ladies are registering a kick which cannot be ignored. They say the ordinance practically bars them from patronizing the popular little theaters, and they are not taking kindly to this curtailment of their amusements.

POLICE KEPT BUSY BY VALENTINE CALLS

Many Windows and Doors Smashed by Mischievous Boys.

The mischievous small boy had a "bully good" time celebrating Valentine's in Atlanta last night.

After paying his individual respects to the saint by slipping apretty valentine under his sweetheart's door and vanishing around the corner before she could answer the bell, he joined his playmates at the appointed place and time, and a collective celebration was inaugurated while their fathers were up town marching in the parade.

Substituting brick bats, rocks and balls and sticks for the more tender missiles, bands of small boys marched mysteriously throughout the residence districts, harrying various households, the inmates of which in turn called upon the police for protection.

Plate glass in front doors and windows was smashed in a score of homes, gates were spirited away and fence palings were ripped off and added to the noise machinery.

The "bad boys," as they were described by those telephoning the police, were as wary as Indians, and sounds of hurrying footsteps were the only clues obtained by the officers going out on their trail.

Being handed a valentine equivalent to a "lemon" was not appreciated very much by some of those who telephoned to the police. The joke will be passed on to the glass dealer, who will probably smile and say, "Boys will be boys."

SPEER'S TRIBUTE TO PROHIBITION

Federal Judge Says Law Is Working Wonders.

In Charge to Grand Jury, Judge Speer Declares Crime Has Decreased Greatly in Georgia Since Passage of State-Wide "Dry" Law.

Macon, Ga., February 14.—(Special.) In his charge to the grand jury here today, Judge Emory Speer dealt largely with splendid results of the prohibition law in Georgia since it went into effect. A fine tribute to the yeomanry in the jury service and their appreciation of good government preceded his reference to prohibition.

He said, in part:

"The state of Georgia in twelve months will gain incalucuable advantages in the improvement of stock alone, because drunkards no longer handle and drive them. A prominent mill man in Macon, one of our best citizens, assured me that while heretofore he could not get his men to work, before Tuesday or Wednesday after the Saturday night debauch, now that whisky is gone, bright and early Monday morning they are at the engine, the spindle and the loom. Labor which was almost impossible to obtain through the rural districts is now plentiful and the work has just begun.

"Little more than a year ago I heard experienced contractors complain that many of their laborers would work only a day or two in a week to obtain enough money for support and the small amount of food consumed, and then quit work until the money was gone.

"The police courts of such great cities as Macon, Augusta and Atlanta, when contrasted with their former methods, have practically gone out of business, the offenses formerly engaging their attention are now not committed. This will be found true in the superior courts and the county courts throughout the state of Georgia. Where a week or two weeks of the people's time and money were expended upon the criminal docket, it will not bear out my experience if they is they do not finish in a day or two days."

Dr. Broughton to W. C. T. U.

Macon, Ga., February 14.—The local W. C. T. U. had a large gathering of people at the meeting at Mulberry Methodist church this evening to hear Dr. Len Broughton and others. The most striking assertion was that the prohibition law is being openly and flagrantly violated at every turn. Plans will be discussed to lend aid to the state officers in stopping the traffic.

PERFECT WEATHER FOR "BONDS" DAY

Forecaster's Announcement Cheered by Workers for the Issue.

With even the weather gods doing their very best to help the bond election, it is hard to see how it can fail. Local experts announce that while yesterday was almost ideal, today will be even more pleasant—promising a touch of spring that will be unmistakable.

At the final meeting of the bond campaign committee Monday afternoon, Chairman Walter McElreath read the forecast for Tuesday, in which the weather man promised perfect weather conditions, and those who have worked hardest for the success of the bond issue cheered the announcement to an echo. As the votes of all who stay away from the polls will be counted against the bonds, bad weather would most probably go far towards defeating the bonds. But the weather man has promised to join in the general fight for greater, cleaner, better Atlanta, and everything promises victory, it is believed.

"Goodnight," said the Gopher, as he pulled up his coat collar and lighted a final cigar, preparatory to going home. "I'm going to turn in now so I can be the first one to cast my vote for the bonds in the morning.

"You know, I don't dabble in politics, and running the city don't keep me awake at night, ordinarily, but I'm in dead earnest about wanting those bonds to carry. And I can't see how anybody that has really studied the matter even a little bit can feel any other way.

"The improvements have got to be made, and that goes without saying. It'll take money to make 'em certain. The regular income of the city isn't and ought not to be large enough to spare the money. Then where is it to come from if we don't issue bonds? In no city of any size in the country is any attempt to make permanent improvements made without the issuance of bonds to raise the money. Atlanta's in the forefront in lots of things, and she can't afford to be behind in the matter of taking care of her own citizens. And bonds are the only method by which she can properly do this. Meet me at the polls at 7 o'clock."

There is no objection to the Bond issue, and the Reo don't even say a word against it. So let's have Bonds and Reo.

Atlanta is well able to issue Bonds, and you should be able to do it with a Reo.

CORPORATION TAX RETURNS ARE DUE

If Not Made This Month, Heavy Penalties Will Be Assessed.

Collector of Internal Revenue Rucker is again in receipt of a communication from Commissioner Cabell of the internal revenue service at Washington relative to excise tax, and in his letter of yesterday the commissioner emphasizes the penalty feature upon all corporations, joint stock companies, associations and insurance companies subject to that excise tax failing to render the prescribed return of their gross and net income for the calendar year 1909 on or before March 1, 1910, or for presenting a false or fraudulent return.

An act of August 5, 1909, requires a return direct to the collector of internal revenue of the district within which the business is conducted. Under a misapprehension a large number of returns have been sent to the state house, while others have gone on to Washington. All of these have been returned to Collector Rucker at Atlanta, but the remailing and transit have caused delay in delivery. All communications should be mailed to "The Collector of Internal Revenue, Atlanta, Ga."

The tax is 1 per cent on the net income of the corporation after it has passed $5,000. If a net income of $5,000 is not shown on the books, no excise tax is collectable. A failure to comply with the law subjects the corporation to a fine of not less than $1,000 or more than $10,000, while a false return makes a maximum fine of $1,000, or one year imprisonment, either or both, in the discretion of the court.

Crystal Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Carlton entertained at buffet supper last night at their home in Inman Park, the occasion a beautiful one celebrating their crystal wedding anniversary.

There were present sixty guests, all of whom were guests at the wedding fifteen years ago, and the hospitality extended them was most happy.

The house was handsomely decorated with foliage plants and flowers, pink carnations and white Roman hyacinths being used with elaborate taste in the reception rooms, red carnations with palms and ferns in the library, and an appropriative use of crystal combined with pink obtaining in the dining room. The valentine suggestion was also introduced in many heart-shaped details.

The table in the dining room had as its centerpiece a crystal bowl of enchantress carnations and white hyacinths, the crystal candlesticks had shades of pink, with crystal fringe, and cut glass dishes held heart-shaped candies in pink and white. The ices and other features of an elaborate supper were heart-shaped.

Mrs. Carlton wore a beautiful rose-colored gown of cashmere de soie, hand-embroidered and trimmed with point lace.

Assisting Mr. and Mrs. Carlton in entertaining were Mr. and Mrs. Joel Hurt, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Woodruff, Dr. and Mrs. John Hurt, Mr. and Mrs. George Calhoun Walters, Misses Mabel and Eva Hurt, Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Brown, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Hood, Mrs. Elizabeth Bates.

Valentine Party.

Miss Arlene Scully entertained informally at cards last night at her home on Piedmont avenue in compliment to Mrs. L. M. Nuttman's guest, Mrs. Alexander Starke.

The valentine idea was carried out in many attractive details of hospitality, and the game of hearts was played. The score cards were hand-painted Cupids, and the prizes were a silver-mounted violet vase, a heart-shaped silver key ring, and for booby prizes, valentines with nonsense verses.

Afterwards a delicious buffet supper was served in the dining room. The table was artistic in red, the centerpiece of carnations, and the candies, ices and other details were heart-shaped.

Miss Scully was becomingly gowned in pink chiffon and lace, and Miss Margaret Scully, assisting in entertainment, wore white chiffon cloth.

There were twelve guests, and the occasion was happily informal.

SEVEN MEN BURNED ON TORPEDO BOAT

Boiler Tube Explodes on the Hopkins—Two of Men Fatally Burned.

San Diego, Cal., February 14.—Seven men were badly burned, two possibly fatally, by the explosion of a boiler in the forward fire room of the torpedo boat destroyer Hopkins today. The injured are at a hospital in this city.

Three were burned in a heroic effort to rescue their companions in the fire room.

Desperate but futile attempts to enter the room before the steam cleared were made.

Finally R. E. Bonney, chief water tender, was held head downward on the port side by two sailors and he was able to start the blowers. A similar feat was performed on the starboard side by L. Atmon, machinist's mate. It meant death to either to breathe the steam.

A court of inquiry was called to investigate the disaster.

The injured:

R. E. Taylor, first-class fireman; J. F. Hunt, chief water tender; E. A. Clary, water tender; W. A. Neabe, first-class fireman; J. B. McNerlin, first-class fireman; T. J. Brown, coal passer; B. A. Carletillo, second-class fireman.

Taylor and Carletillo may not survive.

The explosion took place half an hour before the torpedo fleet was to put to sea on a speed trip to Pedro.

AEROPLANES URGED FOR AMERICAN ARMY

Taft Tells Aero Man There Is No Money to Supply Airships.

Washington, February 14.—Cortlandt Field Bishop, president of the Aero Club of America, accompanied by a committee representing the Washington and Baltimore Aeronautical societies, called on the president today to urge him to recommend to congress appropriations for the equipment of the army with aeroplanes for military purposes.

The president regretted that, owing to the necessity of strict economy in government expenditures, it would not be possible for him to urge this project upon congress during the present session, but he thought that something might be done in that direction at the next session.

and we hope you are. We think we have excellent reasons for wishing success to the movement.

Atlanta needs, and needs badly, more schools, more water mains, more sewers and other municipal improvements to make Atlanta the city Atlanta ought to be and can be.

There's no limit to the future of Atlanta if—

We make these improvements so necessary.

Let's get rid of the diseases caused by the lack of water mains and sewers. Let's stop crowding the children in school rooms.

Let's Lower the Death Rate

Atlanta cannot get these improvements without money. The way to get the money is to vote for bonds. There is only one answer—

Vote for Bonds!

This day is the day patriotic Atlantans will be called upon to help Atlanta; to help the school children; to help lower the death rate; to help make Atlanta greater.

Today, February 15. And we hope you will vote for bonds.

SILER CITY LADY A VICTIM

Mrs. Gilliland, of Siler City, Was Left in Bad Shape as a Result of an Attack of the Grip.

Siler City, N. C.—"I was in bad shape," writes Mrs. Sarah J. Gilliland, of this place, "after an attack of the grip; was bothered with womanly troubles, but since taking Cardui I am much improved. It has done me more good than the doctors, and I feel it saved my life, after all other methods had failed.

"I thank you for the good that Cardui has done to me, and hope every lady who suffers will try it. I will recommend it to my friends."

You can rely on Cardui being of benefit to you. Its ingredients are mild herbs, having a gentle, tonic effect on the female constitution. The special herbs are grown abroad and imported by us direct. They are not in the Pharmacopeia, nor for sale at druggists, except as put up by us, so you cannot get the effect of Cardui, except by buying Cardui, the woman's tonic.

No other medicine or tonic has exactly the same results as Cardui, no other has the record of 50 years of successful treatments of cases of female weakness, debility and disease.

It is certainly worth trying.

THEFT OF LETTERS CHARGED TO GLAVIS

official misconduct on the part of Ballinger and Dennett?"

"Yes."

"Anybody else?"

"Conclusively as to those two men. I had not formed an opinion as to the others."

Accuses Ballinger and Dennett.

"Who did you want to accuse?"

"Mr. Ballinger and Mr. Dennett."

"You say Ballinger and Dennett and Pierce were guilty of misconduct, but you make no charge of corruptness?"

"If I had thought the facts warranted a charge of corruptness I would have gone to the grand jury instead of the president."

"Then you did not believe there was any corrupt motives or conduct?"

"No."

"Did you think it was error of judgment their not protecting the interests of the people?"

"No; the facts showed it was intentional."

"Yet you say it was not corrupt?"

'Perhaps you and I don't have the same view of the meaning of 'corrupt.' I think when a man acts corruptly he acts criminally. There are no charges of criminality here."

Dennett's Actions "Crooked."

Mr. Schwartz was present at the afternoon session. Glavis continued under cross-examination. He repeated that part of his direct testimony in which he said that he thought Mr. Dennett's actions at Seattle were "crooked" on account of the "funny letters" Dennett was writing. He said Dennett denied one day that he knew Mr. Behrens, one of the coal claimants, and the next day the two lunched together and appeared to be old friends.

Glavis said he became convinced that Dennett was simply "the tool of Ballinger, and would do anything Ballinger told him."

Summing what he said were the facts convincing him that Secretary Ballinger was "unfit for his office and unfaithful to his trust," Glavis said:

"The first action is the appearance of Mr. Ballinger in the Wilson coal cases.

"While that was a long time ago and people may have looked at things differently, his action or participation in the drawing up of an escrow agreement to turn over claims that had not been proved up and have not been proved up as a matter of fact, was criminal. But the statute of limitations has run and the evidence is not quite clear. The record speaks for itself.

"Another thing was Mr. Ballinger's expressions in the summer of 1907 to Special Agent Jones when he knew that there had been violations of the coal land laws; his statement that he was coming to Washington to see what congress could do to help the claimants get patents.

Not Loyal to Trust.

"His next action—one of the most important going to show that he is not loyal to his trust and not faithful to the people—was this one: After giving me the full right and instructions to make a full and complete investigation of all the coal cases, he personally took up an old report by Special Agent Love a few days after, and deliberately ordered the Cunningham claims to proceed to patent. The Love report, to my mind, and I have acted on a thousand or more reports, did not in itself warrant a favorable recommendation. It showed there had been an understanding among the claimants, and suggested fraud rather than a compliance with the law.

"Another evidence that Mr. Ballinger was not trying to protect the people's rights was his appearance before the public lands committee of the house in favor of the Cale bill, which carried out the statement Ballinger made to Jones, that he would do what he could to secure legislation which would have enabled these fraudulent claimants to secure patents. If the Cale law had passed it would have validated the claims.

Ballinger's Unprofessional Conduct.

"The next step Mr. Ballinger took was his unprofessional action—at least members of the bar regard it so, and I know of no attorney of my acquaintance who would have done it—in deliberately going around and representing the other side after having been commissioner of the land office and having full knowledge of the character of the investigation we had made. He did not act alone in the Cunningham group, but in the Green group as well, in which he took six affidavits. He also acted as arbitrator between H. R. Harriman and John Hartlic, relative to the purchase of some coal claims.

"His next action consisted in his asking me in the fall of 1908, when he was in politics and arranging for campaign contributions to hold off any investigation of the coal cases. This showed he did not have the interests of the government at heart."

Mr. Vertrees next questioned Glavis as to incidents connected with the turning over of his office to his successor when Glavis was dismissed from the service. Glavis said he had declined to give up some of the papers until he had made copies of them, because, he said, he was convinced that "mean and treacherous things might be done."

Some Missing Papers.

Mr. Vertrees read a demand which Glavis' successor had made upon him for certain letters that were missing. Glavis said he turned all the papers over. The ones that were said to be missing, he declared, ought to have been in his office.

Mr. Vertrees then read some letters published recently in a weekly paper. Glavis said they were included in the list his successor had prepared as missing.

"Didn't you furnish these letters to this paper?" asked the attorney.

"No, sir; I did not."

"Didn't you leave some of your effects in boxes in the grand jury room at Seattle?"

"Yes, some bear skins and camping outfit."

"Now, isn't it a fact that you did furnish these letters to this paper; that you placed all the papers that had been called for by your successor in one of the boxes in the grand jury room which was broken open on the 8th of this month and the letters and copies found therein?"

"Frame Up," Cries Glavis.

"That is absolutely false—it is 'a frame-up,'" cried Glavis, showing anger for the first time. "These letters did not hurt me. Why did I want them? They hurt Ballinger."

Glavis was interrupted with a question.

"Wait," cried Glavis; "I want to finish. If I wanted to steal these letters do you think I would leave them where federal officers could get them? It makes me indignant to think that government officers, to gain favor with their superiors, would stoop to such a thing."

The crowd in the hearing room burst into applause. Chairman Nelson said another such demonstration would result in the room being cleared.

NO PARTISAN LINES FOR EDITOR GRAVES

New Orleans, February 14.—"I hope my fellow citizens of the southland will soon be getting rid of narrow partisan lines," John Temple Graves, formerly of Atlanta, now editor of the New York American, declared in addressing the Gulf States merchant marine convention this afternoon.

"Too long have they been trammeled by the views of their fathers. They must begin to realize that different conditions, different environments, different issues are coming up which serve to becloud and belittle the issues and tenets, political and otherwise, which were rigidly held by their forbears. There is no part of the country which will be more benefited than the south through the completion of the Panama canal, yet for reasons of party politics there is an apathy which causes blind opposition to what should be their best interests."

Mr. Graves then entered into an argument in support of government aid of the merchant marine.

Former Congressman and Assistant Postmaster General J. T. McCleary, of Minnesota, made an address advocating the provisions of the Humphrey bill now pending in congress.

The convention will be concluded tomorrow with addresses by several prominent speakers.

CORNERED IN CELLAR, BURGLAR USED KNIFE

He Fatally Wounded Owner of House and Also Cut Policeman.

New York, February 14.—A burglar's desperate resistance when cornered in the cellar of John Krudeps' cafe in Brooklyn, resulted in the probable fatal wounding of the proprietor and the serious stabbing of a policeman who came to the rescue.

The burglar attacked Krudeps as the latter entered the dark cellar. Krudeps grappled with his assailant and they struggled together fifteen minutes. Finally the burglar brought a knife into play and Krudeps, twice stabbed, was succumbing when Policeman Harris arrived. The officer, before he could conquer the burglar by putting a revolver to the head of the desperado, was cut by the latter's knife.

The prisoner, who gave his name as Frank Manno, was locked up to await the result of his victim's wounds.

LORD'S DAUGHTER DID NOT ELOPE

London, February 14.—Miss Alexandra Louivina Knollys, daughter of Lord Knollys, King Edward's private secretary, who was recently reported as having eloped, is in London. On last Thursday she attended the dog show in company with Queen Alexandra. The identity of the eloping woman said to have been found at Palma, Island of Majorca, is not known here.

A dispatch from Palma yesterday said that English detectives had arrested a man there who was charged with having eloped with Miss Knollys and who was supposed to be either a coachman or a British army officer. The dispatch added that Miss Knollys had been found and placed in the care of her brother.

LATEST REPORTS FROM ALL THE MARKETS

NET LOSS WAS SHOWN AT SESSION'S CLOSE

Cotton Market Was Very Quiet With No Support From the Bulls.

New York, February 14.—The cotton market was very quiet today, and after opening higher, eased off, under local selling and absence of bull support, with the closing tone steady at a net loss of 7@1½ points.

The opening was steady, at an advance of 4@8 points, in sympathy with the firmness of Liverpool and New Orleans over the local holiday and the large spot business reported in the English market, where there were sales of 32,000 bales since the close of last Friday. Weekly reviews of the dry goods trade, reporting an improved demand for cotton goods, helped the tone of the market at the start, also, but it soon became apparent that the news was not bringing in any fresh demand of consequence, and the absence of support encouraged local traders to take the short side for a turn. While there was some buying by spot houses on a scale down, the market showed little rallying power at any time during the day, and turned decidedly easier in the last hour, under continued local selling, scattering liquidation and a few stop loss orders. The close was within a point or two of the lowest, although the tone was steadied by covering and a moderate demand from trade interests. Southern spot markets, as officially reported early, were ¼c higher to 1-16c lower. No precipitation was reported in the southwest over the holidays, and further complaints are received from there of insufficient moisture, while private advices from the south were generally very bullish as to the spot situation in the interior. Such bullish reports as were received today, however, appeared to be insufficient to inspire fresh purchases, and local traders seemed to be influenced as much by the failure of the market to respond to bullish news as by any other feature in the situation. It was rumored that the National Ginners' Association reports 100,000 bales ginned since January 16.

Receipts at the ports today, 12,997 bales, against 8,842 last week and 26,841 last year. For the week, 75,000 bales, against 87,779 last week and 142,140 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans, 3,543 bales, against 11,082 last year, and at Houston, 4,678, against 5,341 last year.

Cotton—Spot closed quiet; middling uplands, 15.15c; middling gulf, 15.40c; sales, 500 bales.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, February 14.—Spot cotton quiet and steady unchanged; middling, 15 1-16; sales on the spot, 250 bales; to arrive, none; low ordinary, 11¾, nominal; ordinary, 12 3-16, nominal; good ordinary, 13⅝; strict good ordinary, 14 1-16; low middling, 14½; strict low middling, 14 13-16; middling, 15 1-16; strict middling, 15¼; good middling, 15 7-16; strict good middling, 15⅝; middling fair, 15¾; middling fair to fair, 16¼; fair, 16½, nominal; receipts, 3,543; stock, 191,589.

Cotton futures opened steady at a decline of 2 to 7 points. Cables were about as expected, but the New York market was not as high as due to meet the fluctuations in this market Saturday. In the early trading, the market was dull and prices showed a tendency to sag on pessimistic feeling, which was traced to recent utterances by President Taft. In the first half hour of trading, prices of the more active months lost 6 to 8 points. The weather map was dry and no rain was reported in Texas over Sunday. This checked short selling to some extent.

The market held dull throughout the morning session. At the middle of the morning, some weakness developed on rather free short selling and prices were sent down until they were 10 to 16 points under Saturday's closing. At this point, cable messages were received from Bremen, stating that the story was going the rounds of that market that importers were short 300,000 bales of spots to spinners. This gave the market a steadier tone and caused a recovery of six to seven points by the noon call. The spot markets in this country were closely watched, but the majority of reports coming in were that actual cotton was in scanty supply and continued good inquiry.

In the afternoon the market developed decided weakness and prices made new low levels for the day, going 17 to 19 points below Saturday's closing on the old crop during the last hour of trading. This decline was caused by aggressive short selling in which prominent interests in New York appeared to lead, telegrams from that market giving the name of a well-known floor broker as the heaviest seller.

The closing was steady at a net decline of 16 to 18 points on the old crops and ten points on October 5.

Liverpool Cotton.

Liverpool, February 14.—Closing: Spot, good business done; prices 2 points higher; American middling fair, 8.63; good middling 8.35; middling 8.19; low middling 8.09; good ordinary 7.83; ordinary 7.58. The sales of the day were 12,000 bales, of which 500 were for speculation and export and included 11,500 American. Receipts 16,000 bales, including 13,000 American. Futures opened steady and closed barely steady.

STOCKS RECOVERED THEIR EARLY LOSSES

Opening of Market Was at Decline---But Close of Session Showed Gains.

New York, February 14.—The principal fact imparted by the action of the stock market today was its lapse, in large part, into the hands of the professional element. The element had been impressed on Friday with assertions regarding the contents of President Taft's speech, then in prospect of Saturday night. These assertions lent a color of leniency to the supposed views of the president on the corporation problem, which aroused the fear among pearish speculators that the subject was to be converted into the factor for booming stocks rather than a cause for anxiety to corporation interests. The perusal of the speech disclosed no sign of the retractions which had been broadly insinuated in some of Friday's reports and the professional operators in stocks promptly retraced the steps they had taken on Friday before the two-day holiday. This caused the marketing back of prices from 1 to over 2 points in the opening transactions. At that level there was no active pressure to sell while the kind of demand developed, which halted the decline early last week. The sustaining effect on prices and the scanty offerings of stocks caused fresh intimidation to the bear party and they bought to cover with increasing urgency. The end of the day saw the severe declines of the opening replaced by substantial net gains, with prices rising. The shrinkage in the volume of the day's transactions demonstrated the small selling pressure at any of the day's price levels. The bulk of the business was done in the first and last hours.

Foreign markets had held Friday's price level for American stocks better than was done when the New York stock market opened. The consequence was a substantial volume of buying orders for execution on arbitrage here. This helped the recovery, which set in promptly after the opening market. Foreign banking houses bear testimony to an appreciable growth of foreign demand for corporation bonds, outside the ordinary channels of the stock market. This is regarded as a most encouraging feature of the financial situation, especially in view of the continued dislocation of the international trade situation. Imports of merchandise continue very heavy, in spite of the shrinkage in exports compelled by the high price of cotton and wheat.

Western railroad traffic officials reported a large tonnage moving, but took pains to give credit to December arrearages for their part in the showing. The Northern Pacific December earnings statement bore testimony to the severe effects of storm blockades in addition to the switchmen's strike in that territory. Oepratıng expenses are complained of yet by railroad officials, by reason of weather conditions.

The decreased activity of the market is ascribed to the purpose to await more explicit information on sundry subjects. With the recess of the supreme court approaching an end, the weekly conjecture on a possible decision in the American Tobacco case is expected to reassert an influence. Differing views on the extent of trade recession, actual or prospective, figure in the financial discussion. The large deliveries of copper into consumption during January are regarded as being prompted by the belief in an agreement amongst producers to restrict output and there is apprehension that this laying in of stocks will curtail the later demand for that metal.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $2,760,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Argo, Jester & Co.

New York, February 14.—Opening prices were higher today in response to strength of cables and the reports of large spot sales in the Liverpool market. On the advance, however, the same pressure was noticeable, as has been in evidence lately on bulges over 15 cents and this, with more or less profit taking, brought about a reaction. At the lower level there was enough local short covering and scattered commission houses buying to hold prices steady until just before the close, when they eased off a few points further. The market was generally dull, but steady until the weakness at the close, which was at the low prices for the day. The trade shows no particular interest in the market about this level and there is not enough speculation to bring about an advance, is spite of continued bullish statistics and the unfavorable advices rom Texas. It looks as if the market would have to wonk lower before the trustworthy support will be met.

Liverpool is due to open six points lower.

Cotton Seed Oil.

New York, February 14.—The cotton seed oil market was barely steady for the near positions, with some further liquidation, but the late months were steadier, with small offerings and a better demand, and at the close the market was unchanged to 7 points advance, with sales of 11,500 barrels. Prime crude, 5.92; prime summer yellow, 6.95@7.00; prime winter yellow, 7.10@7.45; prime summer white, 7.00@7.40. Futures closed steady.

High Price of Hogs.

Chicago, February 14.—The widespread agitation against the high price of meat has failed to check the high price in hogs, live hogs in the stock market here today selling at the highest mark, with one exception, of the last 40 years. The new high point recorded today was $9.27½ per 100 pounds, and predictions were freely made that within a few weeks the $10 level will have been passed.

Simultaneously with the fresh bulge in live hogs, the price of the products also made marked advances, pork for May delivery selling today at $23.65 per barrel. This is the highest price touched since the civil war, with the exception of 1887, when the price was forced up to $24 during what is known as the "Armour corner."

Continued light receipts of hogs at all western packers, and an unusually active demand by eastern shippers are the reasons for the persistent upward trend.

London Stock Market.

London, February 14.—President Taft's speech in New York Saturday, and the failure of the Central Foundry Company caused a weak opening in American securities today. During the first hour, local and continental and Wall street selling made a sharp break in values. Union Pacific, United States Steel and Rock Island shares led the decline. At noon the market was weak with prices ½ to 2⅜ points lower than Saturday's closing here. Compared with last quotations in New York Friday, values ranged from unchanged to 1½ lower. After another drop, following the Wall street opening, support in the late trading helped a recovery of nearly a point in the leading issues and made the close steady.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, February 14.—Today's market made a very disappointing showing on the cables, owing to southern liquidation, which appeared immediately on the opening, and which brought about a quick recession in prices, owing to the lack of any general demand from our spinners' brokers and to the entire absence of any speculative buying. In the middle of the day, the market ruled dull and steady, with very little business, but became active and weak in the last half hour, on fresh liquidation, which appeared to have its origin from the west. The local feeling is unsettled tonight, and it is generally felt that if more support is not forthcoming the market is likely to sag slowly, although no one anticipates any sharp break.

Liverpool is due some five points lower in the morning.

Coffee.

New York, February 14.—The market for coffee futures opened dull at unchanged prices to a decline of 5 points in sympathy with the decline of ¼ franc at Havre. Business was chiefly in the way of switching from near to late positions, and no important feature developed, from a trading standpoint, with the chief topic of discussion the reported clearances of 2,000 bags from Santos, this being the first since the additional export tax of 20 per cent became operative. There was a little European selling and some scattering liquidation, but offerings were well taken around the initial figures by trade interests, and the market closed steady, net unchanged to 5 points lower. Sales were reported of 21,750 bags.

Spot coffee steady; No. 7 Rio, 8 11-16 @8¾; No. 4 Santos, 9@9½. Mild quiet; Cordova, 9¼@12½. Futures ranged as follows:

CROP DAMAGE REPORTS ADVANCED WHEAT

May Wheat Closed at $1.12½. Corn and Oats Closed a Trifle Higher.

Chicago, February 14.—Wheat prices advanced today under the spur of crop damage reports. Corn and oats moved within narrow limits, closing a trifle higher than Friday, while provisions showed unusual strength from the start, pork jumping at the outset from 30 to 80 cents, and closing not far from the high point, with other products at a material advance.

A strong buying demand in the meat pit, induced by many reports of crop damage in the southwest wheat country, caused prices for the grain to advance practically without cessation throughout the session. May opened at about Friday's closing figures and forged rapidly to the front, outstripping the more distant months which showed greater gains at the outset. Notwithstanding the upward trend of the market, the longs were chary in offerings and their reluctance to part with holdings further contributed to the bullish sentiment. May progressed from $1.11 to $1.12⅝, July and September keeping step in the advance. The close was strong, with the more distant months at the high point and May a trifle off from the crest at $1.12½, ¾@1½c higher than the final figures Friday.

In the corn pit generous buying failed to produce the effect seen in wheat, principally because of loosening of long holdings. New buying was much in evidence, and the strength of wheat served to stiffen the market when the offerings threatened to send prices on a downward grade. May moved between 66¾@67¼, the other futures holding to similar limits. The close was steady, with May at 66⅞@67c, a shade higher than final figures Friday.

The bullish tendency of a speculative demand in the oats pit was counterbalanced by liberal offerings and larger receipts. The market showed more strength than did corn, but was far short of the advance in wheat prices. May fluctuated between 46⅞c and 47⅛@37¼c, other months having a similar movement. The close was strong, with May at 47⅛c, ¼c higher than Friday's final quotation.

Provisions showed unusual strength, and at the start advanced from 10c to 80c, pork being the banner product with a record-making opening, which overlapped top prices for years. Shorts were in a panic most of the day, and longs held grimly to their stocks, declining to glut the market with offerings even when the prices proffered were attractive. Pork kept its lead throughout the day, although other products made steady advances. At the close pork showed a net advance of 75c for May and 77½c for July; lard closed 27½c to 30c up and ribs 25c to 27½c higher. Closing figures for the May products were: Pork $23.55; lard $12.67½@12.70, and ribs $12.35. May pork opened at $23.10@23.62½ and touched a high point at $23.65.

TOWN BOMBARDED IN NICARAGUA

Forces of Madriz Are Trying to Capture Matagalpa.

Managua, February 14.—Heavy field guns posted on the hills by the Madriz forces yesterday began a bombardment of Matagalpa, which on February 10 was taken by the revolutionary army under General Chamorro. Prior to the opening of the bombardment the government notified the American consulate agent at that city, William H. DeSavaginy, so that the non-combatants could withdraw. Mr. DeSavaginy protested against the bombardment, which, nevertheless, was carried out.

The Madriz troops were under command of General Lara, with General Chavarra and General Porto Carriero supporting him. These troops are said to have numbered about 3,000 men.

Subsequently the attack upon the city was abandoned, but it is likely to be renewed at any moments It occupied several hours, but the extent of the damage has not been ascertained.

The situation in Managua is tense and no one can say what is likely to happen in the next few days, particularly in event of the government forces failing to defeat the revolutionists.

THEATERS

"The American Idea."

"The American Idea" is typically American, and is also typically "Cohanesque." This combination proved a delightful hit at the Grand last night.

The show will not stand analysis. One must judge by the general effect, and the authors have been clever enough to arrange the several effects so that they catch the audience by surprise and sweep them into laughter and applause.

Miss Trixie Friganza, as Mrs. William Waxtapper, displayed the fact she was a thorough student of that delightful art of creating a laugh. So thorough is she, that she not only keeps to the front her native humor, but turns to advantage some things which might prove an encumbrance to another. She was droll, and her audience laughed with her and at her unstintedly.

An able second to her efforts was Arthur Lipson, as Pierre Souchet, the bogus count. He showed a true Frenchman's knack—of springing, in an instant, from menial to master. The part requires much versatility, and Mr. Lipson was thoroughly versatile. He played his role enthusiastically and, though in some instances he carried its eccentricities to an extreme, he was always the Frenchman. His dialect was perfect and his shrug strictly after the style of the true Parasian.

The music was catchy, of course. No departure was made from the usual Cohan style, but the audience never tired, though the "Grand Old Flag" and "Give My Regards to Broadway" were suggested many times during the evening.

Mention should be made of Stephen Hustleford and Misses Whitford and Gilbert as Catherine Budmeyer and Nellie Sullivan, respectively. The rest of the cast were only fair.

The chorus was thoroughly "on the job," and there was one little girl, with her hair plaited in two switches, who was a dear, but the others, charity only forbids an expression of the truth.

At the Lyric.

"Strongheart," the Indian problem play from the pen of William C. DeMille, opened up a week's engagement at the Lyric last night and it can be truthfully said that the production was meritorious, forceful and interesting. A large audience was well pleased.

Charles Edwin Doherty, as "Strongheart," presented that character effectively and with the proper spirit. His work could hardly be improved upon. Of striking manners, physique and stage presence, his portrayal of the Indian character was as good as one could wish to see. In the thrilling climaxes he reached the heights of dramatic art and held the audience in a spell.

The company surrounding Mr. Doherty is a capable one, reads its lines well and gives the star splendid support.

The work of Fred Shepherd, as "Billy" Saunders, stands out above the rest. To him falls the comedy allotment and Mr. Shepherd takes care of it superbly. He played the same part with Mr. Edson when the latter was seen at the Grand.

Miss Bessie Wilkes, as Dorothy Nelson, the sister of the captain of the football team and the "girl" that "Strongheart" loves, is adapted to the part, reads her lines well, appeals to the hearts of her audience, who sympathize with her "love affair," and above all is good looking in face and figure.

With such a play and such an acceptable cast, the Lyric should be packed the remainder of the week.

At the Orpheum.

To Lola Merrill and Frank Otto go the honors at the Orpheum this week, while pressing them close in popular favor is the act entitled "Galletti's Baboons."

To mention in the same breath two offerings, as far apart in their nature as the moon is from the earth, may seem a trifle extraordinary, but such is vaudeville.

Both acts are laugh producers. But there is a wide difference in the kind of mirth. The first is of the refined character, a smile first, a chuckle, then, but noisless as a rule. The chuckle is infectious, and lasts the act through. The second is like the explosion of a paper bag in the hands of a small boy, or the popping of his fireworks on some Fourth of July.

To dainty, bewitching Lola all credit is due. Her dress is as neat as the act she appears in and the girl herself is different from the usual run. On stage, at least, she appears the sort of charmer you would like to meet in some parlor, with the lights ablaze, or take with you to see a show. About the lights—well she could stand the inspection of curious eyes. There are some who can't.

Ed Morton, a singer, gets away with a bunch of musical sound, and finally offers one "real" song. It is catchy, and brings the gallery into the chorus. LaVine-Cimaron Trio in "Imagination" have a good sketch. Fred Ray's players, in "The Noblest Roman of Them All," are fair. Mignonette Kokin offers some fine moving pictures.

Mack and Williams, the opening number, deserve a place higher up on the bill. The little girl in the act has the O. K. brand stamped all over her.

Florence Davis.

Following close upon the heels of the comedy craze, which seems to have fastened itself upon the theatergoing public with a vengeance, comes the announcement of A. G. DeLamater that he has secured Florence Davis, a special southern favorite, to head a company organized for the purpose of exploiting "Are You a Suffragette?" a comedy of which Frederic Arnold Kummer is the author. Her appearance at the Grand Wednesday and Thursday for three performances will be an event of special interest to local theatergoers.

"The Thief."

"The Thief," the sensational Paris society play that has created her greatest dramatic stir in a quarter of a century and which has been translated from the French into five different tongues and which, in a year of financial depression and general retrenchment, ran for ten consecutive months in New York at the Lyceum Theater, that city, is to be sent by Charles Frohman, with Herbert Kelcey and Effie Shannon at the head of the special cast, to the Grand Opera House next Friday and Saturday, with matinee Saturday.

"Little Nemo."

The biggest show that has ever been to Atlanta, Klaw & Erlanger's gigantic production of "Little Nemo," will be seen at the Grand for a week, beginning next Monday, with Tuesday, Wednesday and Saturday matinees. The entertainment, which is described as the most elaborate musical comedy that has ever been presented in the world, is said to be the greates sensation in theatricals for years, and in New York, Boston, Chicago and Philadelphia, the only cities that witnessed it last season, the playhouses in which it was booked were not large enough to hold the crowds it attracted.

The great company exploiting "Little Nemo" numbers over one hundred and fifty performers, with an all-star cast of comedians, including Joseph Cawthorn, Harry Kelly, Harry Blaney, Master Gabriel and other world-famous funmakers.

GEORGIANS OPPOSE SHIP SUBSIDY BILL

Delegation Is Polled at Request of Minority Leader Clark.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, February 14.—(Special) The Georgia representatives are opposed to the Humphrey ship subsidy bill, and today all but two expressed themselves as opposed also to the substitute proposed by the minority of the house committee on merchant marine and fisheries.

Champ Clark, the democratic leader, today sent to Colonel Livingston, the dean of the Georgia delegation, a copy of the proposed substitute and asked an expression from the Georgia representatives of the subject.

The substitute provides for a 5 per cent reduction in tariff duties on all goods and merchandise imported into the United States in ships owned and controlled by citizens of this country. The following Georgians signified that they were against all ship subsidies, including this indirect subsidy: Representatives Livingston, Brantley, Howard, Adamson, Bell, Lee, Edwards and Hughes.

Representative Bartlett said he would favor the substitute if it could be used to defeat the Humphrey bill, for he opposed the latter measure. Representative Hardwick expressed himself as against the Humphrey bill and in favor of the substitute.

The reply of the Georgians was conveyed to the democratic leader. Complete replies from democrats of other states have not yet been received, so it is impossible to say when the substitute will be offered.

SEA SCOURED IN VAIN FOR MISSING TUG NINA

It Seems Probable That the Vessel and Crew Are Lost.

Washington, February 14.—The search of the United States navy and revenue cutter service for the naval tug Nina and her crew of thirty-two men was continued today with grim fidelity. Not a trace of the little craft has been found at the end of the third day of the exploration of the Atlantic and the only ray of hope is found in the absence of any reports of wreckage in the broad expanse of water from Norfolk to Boston. Even this hope is discounted by the fact that the vessel, being of steel construction, may have gone suddenly to the bottom of the sea before the crew had time to launch a boat or unlash a life preserver.

The fate of the crew is all a matter of conjecture and the hope to which officials cling is that they were picked up by some passing vessel not yet spoken by the searching squadron.

The government appears to be assured of the support of the labor party.

TOLD MOTHER GOODNIGHT AND KILLED HIMSELF

Boy Had Been Reprimanded for Staying Out Late.

Chicago, February 14.—"Goodnight, mother; God bless you! Goodby."

Eighteen-year-old John V. G. Ploskett, a student at the Albert Lane Technical High School, said this to his mother early yesterday morning after he had been reprimanded for staying out late.

Only a few hours later he was found dead in his room by his 8-year-old brother, who had been sent to awaken him for breakfast. The older boy had committed suicide by shooting himself in the mouth with a 22-caliber rifle.

"John came home early in the morning, having been out with several friends, and as I was worried, I scolded him. He was a good boy," said Mrs. Ploskett in telling her story to the police.

Buy Clarke's Pure Rye

and know what you are getting. President Taft decided that "whiskey" means straight whiskey. So after January first you can tell by the label what you are buying. The Clarke's Pure Rye label won't be changed. It has always been known as a straight whiskey.

Clarke's Pure Rye Whiskey is made in the largest whiskey distillery in the world. It sets a standard for purity that few Rye Whiskies reach.

Every bottle of Clarke's Pure Rye has been aged from six to eight years in Government warehouses. It bears the Internal Revenue stamp—that is a sure sign of purity and full measure.

Keep Clarke's Pure Rye in your medicine chest. It is especially valuable for medicinal use—to remedy ailments for which whiskey is always used.

POISONED BY PRICKING PIMPLE

With a Pin—Inflammation Set In and Itching, Pain and Swelling Followed—Unable to Rest Day or Night—Suffered Six Months—Relieved in a Day and Wholly

CURED BY CUTICURA ON SISTER'S ADVICE

"Several years ago I had a little pimple come between my ankle and knee. I opened it with a pin which caused it to inflame. In a short time my limb was so poisoned and swollen I could scarcely use it. I suffered intense pain, being unable to rest day or night. I tried every remedy recommended, consulted several specialists but grew worse all the time, finding no relief in anything.

"My sister recommended the Cuticura Remedies. I began using the Cuticura Remedies according to directions and I was so much relieved that I slept some the first night. The itching, burning and swelling in my limb gradually decreased and the sore began to heal. After six months' suffering such as I had endured, the relief was wonderful. I continued the treatment several weeks and a permanent recovery was the result. I shall ever recommend the Cuticura Remedies to any one suffering from blood and skin diseases. Mrs. D. M. May, R. F. D. 5, Goldsboro, N. C., Oct. 25, '09."

SHERIFF CHARGED WITH GRAFTING

Mobile Official Was Indicted Last June.

State Examiner in Report on Office of Former Sheriff Frank Caseals Finds Much to Criticise.

Montgomery, Ala., February 14.—(Special.)—State Examiner Purifoy, in a report on the office of former Sheriff Frank Caseals, of Mobile, found much to criticise.

He charges that he collected pay for prisoners' board when they were fed from the outside, which is a felony under the law; that of 7,270 minor cases, out of which he realized feed bills, 4,900 were originated by men in the employ of his office.

It is also charged that he collected feed bills for convicts under hard labor sentence, which is not legal, and also a penalty.

Caseals was impeached in June, 1909.

John S. Drago, who succeeded to the office, is also found to have charged up $24.90 for feeding prisoners who boarded themselves.

Both made out feed bills for C. C. Dickens, a prominent man who went to jail for contempt, but who lived on the fat of the land.

$50,000 Loss From One Match.

Beaumont, Texas, February 14.—After announcing that he believed he would burn the place, a patron of a local saloon dropped a lighted match into a bucket of gasoline. The fire which followed the explosion destroyed a block of frame buildings valued at $50,000. The man was jailed.

Fire Destroys Hotel.

Winston Salem, N. C., February 14.—Hotel Madison, in Rockingham county, owned by J. E. Webster, was completely destroyed by fire early this morning. The loss is $15,000, insurance $4,000. The fifteen guests had a narrow escape.

An opinion was handed down by the railroad commission yesterday to the effect that no corporation owned by a municipality was within the jurisdiction of the commission.

HIS HEAD THRUST INTO A FURNACE

Robbers Attempt to Cremate Their Victim.

Failing to Push Body Into Blazing Furnace, the Robbers Placed the Bound Man on a Flying Wheel From Which He Fell---Robbers Were Negroes.

Hagerstown, Md., February 14.—Robbed and beaten by three masked men, bound hand and foot, and his head thrust into a blazing furnace, from which it was withdrawn only because the door was not large enough to admit his shoulders, and then placed on a flying wheel, from which fortunately he fell at the first revolution, John G. Neibert is in a pitiable and serious condition tonight, though it is believed he will recover from his terrible experience.

Neibert, who is the engineer of Boyer & Heard's grain elevator, went to the engine room early today and started the fire. Shortly thereafter three men, believed to be negroes, entered the room and attacked him. For a time he kept the trio at bay, but was finally overpowered and robbed of $10.

His assailants then attempted to hide their crime by cremating him. Only his head could be forced through the furnace door, however, and this attempt was abandoned. The robbers then placed the body of the unconscious engineer between the spokes of the fly wheel and set the engine in motion, evidently believing that Neibert would be torn to pieces. But at the first revolution of the big wheel, the engineer slipped to the floor, where he was found, still unconscious, some time later. There is no clue to the identity of the robbers.

Angan was formerly an editor, and was alleged to be a member of a Korean secret organization, the purpose of which was the assassination of Prince Ito.

The following were the dates changed: Troop F, Gainesville, from March 9 to Thursday, March 17; Troop L, Atlanta, from March 9 to Friday, March 18; Troop K, Augusta, from March 18 to Friday, March 25.
